Navy Plane With 42 Aboard Missing on Atlantic Flight

One Of The Greatest air-sea rescue missions in history scoured a 120-mile wide stretch of the Atlantic Ocean (dotted line) from Patuxent, Md., (1) to the Azores (2) today in search of a Navy Super-Constellation presumed to have crashed with 42 persons aboard. (UP Telephoto)

Women Wait Word Of Missing Plane

By CHARLES STAFFORD

LEXINGTON PARK, Md. (UP)—A dozen or so brave women waited quietly today for word of their men, missing at sea.

Their husbands comprised the crew of the Navy Super-Constellation missing with 42 aboard on a routine flight from the Patuxent Naval Air Test Center here to the Azores.

TODAY Swing to Republicans Detected

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON—Has there been a last minute swing to the Republicans? Has there been a real payoff from the frantic final campaigning effort all Republicans have been making? The answer seems to be a rather cautious yes, but the reader may judge for himself.

In the two months before election, these reporters made on-the-spot campaign studies in ten key states. What they then reported, rather naturally, was what they were told by local experts.

To find out whether there has been any recent change in the campaign odds, they have now rechecked by telephone with the men who seemed to be the soundest judges of political form in each of these ten states.

The results, though not conclusive, contain some interesting surprises, as in Kentucky and West Virginia, and in general should give at least a glimmer of hope to any Republicans who may have lost heart. Here, then, are the current views of this group of sages, with their former views as well to give a before and after picture.

Kentucky: Before: Alben Barkley's a shoo-in. After: John Sherman Cooper has waged a miraculous campaign. He's been getting miraculous crowds. And I wouldn't be surprised if he passed a miracle, which beating Alben Barkley in Kentucky certainly would be.

Batista Not Opposed in Cuba Election

Opposition Candidate Withdraws

HAVANA, Cuba (UP)—Strong man Fulgencio Batista ran unopposed in Cuba's presidential elections today as opposition candidate Ramon Grau San Martin withdrew and urged Cubans to stay away from the polls.

Grau quit the race last night after the five-man Superior Electoral Tribunal unanimously turned down his request for a delay of 8 or 10 days in today's balloting. The 72-year-old former President denounced the elections as a "farce."

Batista, who has been in power in Cuba since he forced his way back to the top in a 1952 coup, returned fire in a television speech. He charged that Grau withdrew "because he knows he cannot win" and called on Cubans to ignore his call for a boycott.

In addition to a president, the island republic is choosing a vice president, a new Congress, six governors and many mayors and lesser officials.

Approximately 2 1/2 million Cubans were eligible to vote in the elections, Cuba's first major balloting in six years.

Grau's name and those of his followers will appear on the secret ballots. Grau has said, however, that under the rules of his Cuban Revolutionary party (PRC) none can accept offices or seats in the Congress even if they get the most votes.

An estimated 20,000 police, soldiers and sailors stood guard at the 8,319 polling places and other strategic points throughout the island to keep order following a campaign filled with terrorist activities and severe government crackdowns.

No casualties were reported up to the eve of the election although bombs exploded in scattered places the last few days.

Security forces, making surprise raids and searching automobiles, said they uncovered hidden bombs, arms and ammunition and arrested more than 100 suspected "subversives." Universities were closed to prevent demonstrations. Firearm permits were withdrawn.

Police blamed the campaign disturbances on Communists and followers of ex-President Carlos Prío Socarrás, whom Batista overthrew. Prío, in exile in Florida, already had called for Cubans to boycott the election.

Snow Glazes State Highways; 'Skid Season' on

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The slippery highway season returned to Minnesota today as wet snow glazed some roads in scattered parts of the state.

Northeastern Minnesota was reported by the state highway department as the worst area.

More than an inch of wet snow fell in that section Sunday night. Rapidly falling temperatures caused the snow to become compacted and icy.

Roads from Duluth west to Grand Rapids were reported the slipperiest.

A half inch of snow fell in the northwest corner but roads were not as slippery.

Snow also fell in extreme southern Minnesota. Albert Lea reported a half inch with slippery spots on highways.

The mercury dipped to 15 at Bemidji. International Falls had 18, Alexandria a low of 17 during the night, and Redwood Falls 18. All reporting points had precipitation.

St. Paul Man Gets Committee Appointment

ST. PAUL (UP)—Appointment of M. Cameron Kornage, employed by the Minnesota Youth Conservation Commission as a member of the finance committee for the American Recreation Society was announced today in Washington.

Kornage, who lives in St. Paul, is a recreation consultant for the commission.

Man Sought for Extortion in St. Paul Caught

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents here said a man arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, was charged with extorting money from Polish displaced persons in St. Paul.

Lester Shyszko Potocki, a federal fugitive, was jailed in Cleveland Saturday night and will be returned to St. Paul to stand trial.

C. B. Howard, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said Potocki is charged with violating the federal impersonation statute.

Potocki was described as a man of numerous aliases. As Stanley A. Martin, he was alleged to have posed as an FBI agent and threatened Polish nationals in St. Paul with deportation and physical violence unless they paid him.

The FBI said Potocki's scheme earned him $1,300 in cash and valuables. He was arrested in 1951 for obtaining money under false pretenses and was sentenced to six months in prison.

Red China Says Population Up To 601,930,000

TOKYO (UP)—Red China today claimed the staggering population of 601,930,000 people.

The Peiping radio broadcast the new figure, saying it was based on a direct census taken in June 1953. It gave no explanation as to why the figure only now is being released.

The new figure is 100 million more than the most recent estimates used by the Reds themselves, and from 125 to 150 million more than most non-Communist estimates.

In terms of population, the new figure makes the newest member of the Communist group of nations tower nearly twice as large as her nearest competitor, India, where the 1951 census reported 356,929,485 people.

Compared with China, Soviet Russia's population numbered 193 million according to a 1947 figure released by the Kremlin. Recent Soviet estimates have used the round figure of 200 million. Even so, Red China now boasts more than three times as many people as her "big" Communist brother, to whom she has been exporting much-needed food in return for military and industrial aid.

The 1950 census in the United States showed 150,697,361 people, but recent estimates have pushed this above the 160 million mark.

The Peiping radio said the 1953 census was taken by the State Bureau of Statistics. It said the census did not reach Formosa, where the Chinese Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek holds sway, nor a few border areas and in regions where local elections had not yet taken place.

Nevertheless, Peiping apparently included not only the estimated 9,400,000 Chinese now on Formosa, but also the estimated 12 million overseas Chinese who live outside China. Many of these hold dual citizenship under Chinese law—that of the country in which they live, and Chinese citizenship too.

3 Destroyers, Sub Damaged in War Maneuvers

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—A destroyer rammed a submarine and two other destroyers banged into each other yesterday during antisubmarine warfare exercises in the predawn darkness off Norfolk.

The Navy said nobody was hurt seriously, but the four vessels limped toward port today with extensive damage.

The two collisions occurred in heavy seas less than an hour and a half apart some 270 miles out in the Atlantic. The destroyer Norris rammed the superstructure of the submarine Bergall at 3:32 a.m.

At 5 a.m., the destroyers English and W. L. Lind collided while running down a submarine contact.

The ships were engaged in Operation Landflex, largest postwar maneuvers of the Atlantic Fleet.

More than 200 ships are taking part in the operation.

Eisenhower and Stevenson Set For Last Pleas

Air of Uncertainty Hangs Over Outcome Of Voting Tuesday

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (UP)—Control of Congress appeared to be hanging in a narrow balance today as President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson prepared to wind up a blistering campaign with appeals for the voters to turn out in force tomorrow.

Republicans were regarded nationally as fighting an uphill battle to retain their present slender control of the Senate and House, won two years ago. Democrats jubilantly were claiming they would sweep both into their camp and take over up to half a dozen GOP governorships.

But there remained an air of uncertainty, generated by disputes over the effectiveness of strenuous last-minute campaigning by Eisenhower and the depth of penetration of what the Democrats called "Red smear" charges against some of their candidates.

Ike Plans Appeal

From the White House tonight Eisenhower will beam an appeal to the voters to march to the polls. He will be joined by Vice President Nixon, cast by the Democrats in the role of chief campaign author of the Communist-in-government issue. Nixon speaks from Denver. The program is scheduled for 9 p.m. EST. For the West Coast, the program will be rebroadcast three hours later.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who has said Eisenhower has joined in a GOP chorus on the issue of domestic Communism, speaks by radio from Chicago.

His talk is scheduled for 10:15 p.m. EST.

Democrats busied themselves with what National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell called a "walkathon" in an effort to counter the "10 times 10" telephone drive initiated by Eisenhower Saturday.

Democrats were urged to walk to the homes of 10 neighbors and ask them to vote. Republicans were asked to telephone 10 friends and urge them to go to the polls.

There was no accurate indication of the effectiveness of either campaign, despite claims of widespread success. Telephone companies generally reported normal traffic, with increases in some areas.

Democrats Hurl

Democrats conceded privately that they had been hurt in some critical races by the charge that many of their candidates were "left wing." Atty. Gen. Brownell said Saturday night that if Democrats win control of Congress, the new chairman of committees which deal with corruption and Communism would be a "new kind of 5 per center"—they supported the President's program only 5 per cent of the time. He did not name them. Brownell said the "big reason" for having a GOP Congress is that "in this field of Communism there is much to be done by our federal government."

Eisenhower and campaign managers generally have contended the country is enjoying its best non-war year but no GOP leader pressed to know how effective this reply was.

Democrats counted heavily too on what they labeled as dissatisfaction among farmers at low agricultural prices while the cost of living remained generally high.

And their hopes were buoyed by the tradition that the party in power nationally usually loses congressional strength in off-years.

As the campaign ended, the opposing camps hit a high note of bitterness.

Stevenson said in a New York telecast Eisenhower had adopted material which "has been standard Communist propaganda for years."

The President himself has affirmed the proposition that our prosperity has been achieved in the past only at the price of war and bloodshed.

Nixon, accusing Stevenson of making a "hysterical, scurrilous and vicious" attack on Eisenhower, said he planned a large-scale revision of his speech tonight.

"Mr. Stevenson . . . made one of the most vicious attacks through innuendo on President Eisenhower last night that I have ever heard," Nixon told newsmen in Denver. "They can make attacks against me, but when they talk about the President that's a different thing."

Girl Burns to Death as Fire Destroys Home

RUSH CITY, Minn. (A)—A 6-year-old girl died as fire swept a farm home near here but her parents managed to rescue their five other children.

Victim of the blaze Sunday evening was Vida Mae Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Allen. Allen and his wife went into the woods to gather kindling, leaving at home the six children, who ranged from 4 months to 8 years. The couple headed home at dusk and spotted the flames on approaching the house.

They ran into the house and brought out the five children who were downstairs. However, flames and smoke kept them from going upstairs and it is presumed Vida Mae was there.

The Rush City volunteer fire department fought the flames, but the house was destroyed. The girl's body was found in the ruins. Cause of the fire was not learned. George F. Sprain of Chisago County, corner of Chisago County, said he would decide today whether to call an inquest.

Man With Only $3 Returns Church's $84

NEW ORLEANS (A)—A 54-year-old man—ill, jobless and only $3 away from being broke—found $84 on a street yesterday and spent several hours searching for its owner before returning it to a church organization.

The man identified himself as Bryan Diggs, a bank watchman before failing health put him out of work.

Mrs. Angelo Calabresi said she had collected the money for a repair fund at St. Mary's Church. Diggs refused any reward, telling Mrs. Calabresi he had $3 and "that's enough for me."

Election Eve Tough On Many

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (A)—Election eve is zero hour for political candidates, the very worst night of the year.

The weeks of strenuous campaigning end for the aspiring office seeker in a final rally. He then has a supper with his advisers, a dinner that rings with an atmosphere of false cheer and encouraging noises such as:

"You ain't got a thing to worry about, Ed. Like I told you at the start, you're in. Now go home and get some sleep."

"We want to get a picture of you voting bright and early. A little last-minute publicity in the afternoon papers won't hurt. Might pull in a few more votes—not that we really need them, of course, but the bigger the margin the better it'll look."

Not to Sleep

Ed goes home, but not to sleep. He rubs liniment on his arms to ease the soreness that comes from shaking 10,000 strange hands. He gorges with hot salt water to ease a throat hoarse from making 10,000 promises in 350 election speeches.

He smiles at himself in the mirror, the glazed, Halloween pumpkinlike smile that he has worn in public for weeks. He is consoled by the thought that even the dumbest voter must be able to see that his weary face shows more character than the crafty, double-dealing features of his opponent.

"Quit fidgeting, dear, and go to bed," says his wife. "You don't have a thing to worry about. You don't have a thing to worry about." His campaign supporters have been saying that for weeks. He broods. If he doesn't have anything to worry about, then why do they keep saying that?

Nothing to Worry About
He yawns, and collapses tiredly into bed. But not to sleep. Words clang in his brain. "Nothing to worry about. Nothing to worry about." The phrase rings on and on, like a stuck record.

Lying flat on his back looking up at the darkened ceiling, Ed knows, whether this is his first or 50th race, he has everything to worry about. "Nothing to worry about." That, he thinks dimly, is what they must have told Tom Dewey on election eve in 1948.

Restlessly tossing, Ed wonders for the 1,000th time, "Why did I ever get into politics—it's the most thankless business in the world." He thinks of how he strained his own finances to get into the campaign, the number of friends he put the bite on, the strangers from

Counting Voters

Instead Ed gets up, goes to the refrigerator and makes himself a sandwich. He follows it with a slug of milk of magnesia and two aspirin, and lies down again. Soon he dozes off and begins mumbling "8,365, 8,366, 8,367..."

Is it all worth it? On that thought his exhausted mind at last sinks into slumber. But it is fitful. He begins to talk in his sleep, and when dawn comes he is mumbling through his favorite speech for the 15th time:

As her haggard husband climbs into his clothing, he doesn't feel like a savior of the people. He hardly cares whether he loses or wins now.

All Ed really wants to do is to go to a psychiatrist, ask what kind of madness ever led him to become a political candidate—and then spend the rest of the day on the doc's couch catching up on his sleep.

Blood Donor Registrations Far Under Goal

Early Evening Hours Open, Red Cross Chairman Reports

Only a little more than half the required number are registered for the Red Cross bloodmobile unit which began a 4-day visit here this afternoon.

The collection unit will be at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church from 2 to 8 p.m. today and Tuesday, and at the Masonic Temple Wednesday from 2 to 3 p.m. and Thursday from 1 to 2 p.m.

James D. Cole, blood chairman, said that registrations for Tuesday and Thursday are particularly light. Less than 100 prospective donors have signed for each day.

Today's registrations number about 125. Total 4-day registration this morning was 525.

Cole said that registrations during evening hours have been kept at a minimum so that walk-ins can be handled almost immediately. Registration may still be made by calling the Red Cross office, however.

He cited two industries today for high level of cooperation: J. R. Watkins, and the Winona Knitting Mills. Twenty donors are coming from the knitting mills. Also cited was the St. Peter Martyr Priory, Stockton Hill, which sends about 25 donors each time.

Vandalism Reports Few, Sheriff, Police Report

No widespread vandalism was noted in Winona County during the Halloween weekend, law enforcement authorities reported here today.

Sheriff George Fort, who recruited nine special deputies to augment his regular force for Halloween patrolling Sunday night, said today that most of the damage in the rural areas of the county was seen at rural schoolhouses and town halls.

The sheriff said that five youths will be brought to his office later today for questioning regarding Halloween incidents and that all instances of vandalism during the weekend are being investigated by him and his deputies.

Except for damage at the schools and town halls, the sheriff said, the activities of Halloween pranksters were confined mostly to rolling snow fences onto highways.

Here in the city only two reports of vandalism were received during the weekend by police.

All patrolmen were pressed into service Saturday night to patrol the business and residential areas of the city and no serious vandalism was encountered.

Don Pesch, 55½ Huff St., called police headquarters at 10:30 p.m. Sunday and said that had been thrown on his car while it was parked on East 2nd street Sunday afternoon and evening.

A similar report was made by Lawrence Russell, 67½ Lafayette St., who said that tar was smeared on his car while it was parked at his home earlier Sunday evening.

St. Paul Youths Admit Car Theft From Dealer's Lot

The arrest of three St. Paul youths for the theft of an automobile from a used car lot here Friday night was reported today by Chief of Police A. B. Bingham.

Chief Bingham said that the three 16-year-olds Saturday admitted that they took the car from the Midwest Motors lot, 225 W. 3rd St., Friday night—the third car they stole in a 24-hour period.

The trio was arrested here Saturday morning by police who became suspicious when they found the youths loitering at an East End industrial plant.

The youths, who were returned to St. Paul Saturday afternoon, said that they drove the car from the Winona lot only a few blocks before they discovered that there was no water in the radiator and they were forced to abandon it at West 4th and Huff streets.

During questioning at police headquarters, Chief Bingham said, the boys admitted that they began their trip to Winona Friday by stealing a car they found parked on a street in St. Paul.

This car stalled soon after they left the city, the boys said, so they returned to St. Paul and took another car which they drove almost to Wabasha.

After abandoning this car they hitchhiked to Winona and took the Midwest Motors car.

Area Voters Go To Polls Tuesday

Voters of Minnesota and Wisconsin go to the polls Tuesday in biennial elections involving state, district and county offices.

In the Gopher state, the office of U. S. senator is at stake while top state and district posts on both sides of the Mississippi River will be filled. Representatives to national and state legislatures also will be elected.

Reacts of a more local nature exist in all of the nine counties of this area. Most all lower court and county posts are on the ballots. In addition, Wisconsinites will vote on two state referendums; Minnesotans on four proposed state constitution amendments.

Wisconsin

In Western Wisconsin, interest is focused on the Ninth District congressional race between Lester R. Johnson (D), Black River Falls, and William E. Owen (R), Menomonie. Johnson, the incumbent, won the seat last year in this traditionally Republican area after the death of Merlin Hull, veteran congressman.

Two state assemblyman contests in the reappointed five-county area are expected to be close. In the Trempealeau-Jackson district, Russell Paulson (R) Strum, will face Keith Hardie (D) Taylor. Both are veteran state legislators who will be fighting to retain seats for their parties in the new Legislature. Mamre Ward (R), Mondovi, faces Fred Borner (D), Prescott, for the Buffalo-Pepin-Pierce seat.

County elections line up as follows: (I means incumbent).

Trempealeau

Clerk—Hughitt M. Johnson, (R) Whitehall; Albert Hess, (D) Arcadia. District attorney—John C. Quinn, Arcadia (I-R); Roman Feltes, Arcadia (D). Treasurer—Mrs. Marys R. Clerk of circuit court—Clarence H. Johnson, Whitehall (R). District court—Dominic Klonecki, Arcadia (D), who won his party primary for clerk, is not on the ballot as he failed to file campaign expenditures before the deadline. Minnesota elections will be featured by state Legislature contests. Senators John A. Johnson, Preston, from the first district of Houston and Fillmore counties is unopposed as is James R. Keller, Rollingstone, who represents Winona County. Lloyd Duxbury, Caledonia, Houston County incumbent, faces Earl Riek, La Crescent, and Frank Furst, Lake City, Wabasha County incumbent, and Mrs. Joyce Lund, Wabasha, are on the ballot in that county.

In Winona County, George Daley, Lewistown, is opposed for re-election by Donald McLeod, Lewistown, and John D. McGill is facing a race with James Stoltman, to represent the city of Winona in the state Legislature for another term. Judges A. C. Winona County Voter Turnout May Be Large

Interest in Local Races Cited in Tuesday Forecast

Strenuous campaigning by local and state candidates may result in an unusually large vote in Winona County Tuesday.

Election observers said that campaign coverage and advertising in newspapers, on the radio and television—as well as handbills and mailings—have aroused interest in the biennial state election.

"They've got the people talking," said one observer.

No one was expecting a presidential year turnout, but the voter turnout of the state election four years ago appeared to be an easy mark to reach. In the state election of 1950, about 14,450 voted in Winona County. In the city alone, 8,881 of the 11,444 registered voted.

The vote two years ago, when the president was elected, was considerably larger. Slightly over 18,000 cast ballots in the entire county.

Three local contests, plus the strenuous GOP—DFL statewide campaigning, have stimulated voter interest.

In the city, James Stoltman, former 4th Ward alderman and alderman at large, is opposing John D. McGill for re-election to his second 2-year term as state representative. Stoltman has made a representative's relationship with the City Council as an issue in the campaign.

In the county outside the city, Donald McLeod, Lewistown, farmer, who ran second by 252 votes to George Daley two years ago for county representative, is trying again. Daley, also a Lewistown farmer, is serving his second 2-year term.

The other local race capturing public attention is the contest for county clerk. S. A. "Jim" Sawyer, Winona attorney, is squared off against W. Kenneth Nissen, local attorney who has held the office since 1938.

In the city alone, a total of 11,670—about 71 per cent of those eligible to register—are registered and will help decide these contests.

That registration total is about 200 over four years ago but about 800 under two years ago.

Four years ago, only approximately 77 per cent of the registered voters in the city went to the city's 16 polling places.

Tuesday they'll be open for 13 hours, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. While the precinct polls are open, many other places will be closed. Sale of beer and liquor is prohibited during voting hours in Minnesota.

Early voting was urged today by Roy G. Wildgrube, city commissioner of elections. Housewives who can vote early in the day should do so to relieve congestion in the late afternoon and evening, he said.

Radio Station KWNO AM and FM will give complete local and national election coverage beginning at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

It will be a continuous broadcast, with the national ABC program being interrupted the last five minutes of each half-hour for local returns.

Public Assistance Grants Increase
ST. PAUL (AP)—A rise in the number of persons aided through public assistance was reported today by Jarle Leirfallom, public welfare commissioner.

Total persons aided in September amounted to 93,545, or 143 above the August figure.

Comparisons with September of 1953 show a 7.6 per cent rise in costs and 5.7 per cent increase in persons receiving assistance.

Gilman Julson, 17, 103½ W. 3rd St., right, is the most recent recruit to enlist in Winona's National Guard Company A. Julson, who enlisted for three years, was signed up by S.Sgt. Ramon B. Weilandt, left, the current leader in the company's annual recruiting drive.

Little Doe Becomes Big Dough for Him

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—A little doe turned into big dough near here late Sunday, to the despair of a Mabel man.

Ronald Dahl was cruising down Highway 43, east of Rushford, at 8:30 p.m. Sunday when two deer bolted across the road in front of him. He unavoidably struck and killed one of them—a small doe.

Costs to Dahl included $200 repair bill to the front end of his car and Game Warden C. L. Meck's purchase price for the deer carcass.

The mercury will dip to 20 in the city tonight—low for the season—and tomorrow afternoon it'll be about 32. Snow flurries are expected tonight but not on Tuesday.

For the elections, two and four years ago it was about 20 degrees warmer, but there was a trace of snow each day.

Snowfall here Sunday night and this morning measured 1 inch.

Today is the day when Minnesota passenger car owners may "legally" put on their 1955 "new look" license plates.

Sale of the maroon and gold plates got under way Oct. 1, with the deadline for purchase of next year's plates set for Nov. 15. All of them must be attached by Jan. 1.

The new plates are a combination of two alphabetical letters and four numerals, platted on a field of maroon and gold—the state colors.

The first letter on the plates indicates one of Minnesota's nine congressional districts—in Winona it's "A," signifying the 1st congressional district. Second letter indicates the deputy registrar's office within the district where individual plates are purchased.

Locally, 1955 licenses may be purchased at the license bureau office at 60 E. 2nd St. and Andrew M. Lipinski is Winona deputy registrar with his office open from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. each day for purchase of plates.

Lipinski said today that only "about 4,000" 1955 plates have been purchased at this office so far. He expects a heavy run next week. Numbers available here are: AK 1000-9999 and AL 1000-3999.

Requests for special numbers of an applicant's personal choice will not be honored either at the State Capitol or the local office.

Spring Valley Crash Injures One Person; Rochester Man Charged

PRESTON, Minn. (Special)—One person was injured and charges were filed after a head-on collision 4½ miles west of Spring Valley shortly after 7 p.m. Sunday.

Cars driven by William H. Erbes, Austin, Minn., and Arthur R. Peterson, La Crosse, collided when Erbes attempted to pass a third auto.

When Erbes saw that he couldn't make it around the car in front of him, he swung onto the shoulder on the left hand side of the road just as Peterson, attempting to avoid a collision, also headed for the same shoulder.

A passenger in the Peterson car, Milton G. Munkby, 52, La Crosse, was knocked unconscious when his head struck the windshield of the car in which he was riding. He was taken to a Spring Valley physician and later released. Neither of the other two men were hurt.

Damage to the Peterson auto was estimated at $350 by State Highway patrolman E. M. Caul-

Missed Trip Once, But Now He Leads Again

A Winona National Guardsman, who last year won an expensive trip to the Sugar Bowl game for his efforts in enlisting recruits for Winona's Company A but at the last minute decided to forego the trip so that he could be with his wife while she awaited the birth of their first child, is leading local Guardsmen in the current 1954 recruiting contest for which another bowl game trip is one of the prizes.

He is Sgt. Ramon B. Weilandt, 212½ Hamilton St., who has signed three new recruits for Company A since the contest began Oct. 4 and has set the pace for local recruiters in the drive which ends Dec. 4.

A company cook who went on active duty with the Winona unit when it was federalized in January 1951 and served at Camp Rucker, Ala., until his separation in the fall of 1952, Sgt. Weilandt last year enlisted 12 recruits here during the 1953 contest—a record unequalled by any Guardsman in the 135th Infantry Regiment.

He was selected as one of 18 officers and enlisted men of the Minnesota National Guard to make the 3-day trip to New Orleans for the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl game but the day the contingent was to have boarded an airplane for the trip, Mrs. Weilandt entered the hospital here and her husband remained in Winona to be with her.

He was, however, awarded a commendation ribbon for meritorious achievement in the drive.

This year, Guardsmen throughout the state are competing again for expense-paid trips to a New Year's Day Bowl game; just which one has not been decided as yet.

Twenty-seven of the trips will be awarded to personnel throughout the state and each new recruit is eligible to enter the contest after his enlistment has been completed.

Capt. Lucian Grupa, commanding officer of Company A, has asked that any man between the ages of 17 and 35 who is interested in joining the Guard obtain information regarding enlistment at the armory here daily, except Saturday and Sunday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Prospective recruits also have been invited to attend one of the unit's weekly drill sessions each Monday at 7:30 p.m.

kins, Preston, who investigated. Damage to the Erbes auto was $250.

Caulkins charged Erbes with driving in the wrong lane. He'll appear before Lawrence Fruth, Grand Meadow, Nov. 13.

George E. Eakon, Rochester, was arrested by Caulkins on Highway 52, north of Preston, late Sunday. He will appear today before A. H. Langmum, Preston, to answer a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Bitter Wisconsin Battle Now Up to Voters

By ARTHUR BYSTROM
MILWAUKEE (AP)—One of the bitterest political campaigns in recent history reached an end in Wisconsin today and it is now up to the electorate to decide Tuesday whom they want to represent them in state offices and Congress.

There are more than two million persons eligible to decide the Wisconsin issues but it is doubtful whether much more than one-half of them will turn out to cast ballots.

Top interest is centered on the race for governor, with Republican Gov. Walter J. Kohler, 59, trying for his third term. If he makes it, and he is favored, he will accomplish something no other candidate has done in recent years—with three consecutive terms.

Opposing Kohler is William Proxmire, 38, who tried, unsuccessfully two years ago for the post. His campaign has been a hard-hitting, intensive one that he and his followers think will result in an upset victory.

Bitter Campaign
The campaign, particularly in the closing weeks has been bitter between the candidates for the top state posts. There have been charges and countercharges of misrepresentation, deliberate falsehoods, and half truths. Neither side, however, has seemed to have gained by the attacks.

Sen. McCarthy is not up for election this year and has not been an issue in the campaign.

The state, normally Republican, usually goes the way the farm vote goes, although rural residents cast less than 30 per cent of the total vote. As a result much of the campaign has been panned to get the farmers lined up on one side or the other.

The national farm policies have been dragged into the state campaign consistently but whether they will in the final analysis be reflected in the votes Tuesday is something that only the results can show.

Democrats have an edge in the industrial areas that make up the Milwaukee community. The Republicans are expected to get the majority of votes from business people. Then there is a big independent vote that seldom follows party lines but in the past two decades has swung along to the Republicans, except for president.

The farmers are included in this independent category.

Complex Situation
All of this makes it a complex situation. In addition to electing state officers, voters will choose 10 congressmen, 19 state senators, 100 assemblymen and county officials.

A record vote was cast in 1932, with more than 1,600,000 persons going to the polls. The largest total in a non-presidential election year was cast in 1950 when 1,138,000 persons voted.

Indications are that the election this year will draw around 1,400,000 voters.

Republicans are hoping for a large turnout, declaring that it will help their cause.

In the year of a record vote, 1932, Gov. Kohler got slightly over 1,000,000 votes to about 600,000 for Proxmire.

The percentage was similar to the totals for state officers in previous years.

This year the Democrats see in the September primary total vote and in their win in the Ninth Congressional District in a special election last fall, an indication that their party has gained considerably since the 1932 election.

Father Learns Preamble With Son for 7th Grade

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK—Does anybody here want to hear me recite the preamble to the Declaration of Independence? I don't recall having to learn this when I was a kid in the Middle West, but slugging and I just memorized it—his New York 7th grade social studies. France Gives Up Territory in India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India's tricolor replaced France's today over the five Indian settlements which the French had ruled for nearly three centuries.

The flag raising followed the signing in Pondichery this morning of documents between the two nations transferring the settlements to the Indians. Pondichery had been the capital of the 196 square miles and 325,000 peoples of the territorial pockets; which also include Karikal, Chandanagar, Mahe and Yanam. Indian police began entering Pondichery after midnight.

India and France agreed on the transfer Oct. 21 after seven years of squabbling and negotiations over the territory. Prior to the agreement legislators from the scattered areas voted 170-8 for merger with India.

'Brighter, Shorter' Look to Be Rage

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Eyes ahead for men: More brightly colored dress shirts, a "shorter look" in suits and trousers, and shorts for wear at work.

This is the prediction of experts at the National Conference on Fashion Merchandising, featuring a two-day fashion presentation of the Men's Apparel Guild in California. Pink shirts were just the beginning, the experts told 2,000 buyers and retailers yesterday. The growing popularity of the dark-toned suits—charcoals and dark browns—means men will want new, bright colors to wear with them.

Shirts in helio (a purple shade) and lime colors will be gaining in popularity, the authorities said. Suits and sport clothes with a "shorter look"—shorter cuffs, jacket sleeves and coat lengths—were displayed in a fashion show, and stylists even predicted men will be wearing Bermuda shorts to work next summer.

The emu, the national bird of Australia, is the second largest of living birds. Adults average five feet in height.

Much fun: Jack E. Leonard and Billy Vine ripped the shirt off of Henny Youngman's back on "B'way."

Debbie Reynolds reportedly told her MGM bosses she'd quit if Eddie asked her to. Switch: Bing Crosby's asking the Gov't for taxes—claims he overpaid... Monte Proser flew to the Balmoral Hotel in Miami; he may become its entertainment chief... George Sanders does the Hollywood cafes wearing red bedroom slippers.

Hal Cochran offers this advice: "Children should never be allowed to hear their fathers playing golf." WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Women," says Peggy Taylor, "do two things with dirt—either they pass it over a bridge table or sweep it under a rug."

Neely's got it in the bag. After: Republicans are behind the fight ball in this state, but Tom Swann's been making gains by stressing the peace issue; Neely's age is hurting him, and you can see he's scared because he's stopped attacking Ike. Neely should win, but it isn't in the bag anymore.

Ohio: Before: It's a toss-up between Bender and Burke. After: Bender seems to have the edge, although there's a smell of trouble for the Republicans in Ohio this year, and Governor Lausche, who's generally more right than anyone else, thinks Burke will just get by.

Michigan: Before: The Republicans haven't got a prayer for the governorship against Sonny Williams, and in the Senate race, Homer Ferguson is running damn scared. After: Ferguson seems to be in good shape in spite of Secretary Wilson and his dogs, and the Republicans are even talking of beating Williams with their man, Leonard, although I don't believe it.

See Win for Anderson
Minnesota: Before: Hubert Humphrey's got it cold in the Senate race, but the Republicans should win the governorship with C. Elmer Anderson. After: Humphrey's still got it cold, but Orville Freeman's been coming up in the governorship fight.

Illinois: Before: Paul Douglas is in, no matter how much the Republicans spend. After: Douglas is still ahead, but Joe Meek's gained. Furthermore Chicago registration is down 220,000 at least, and suburban registration is up over 50,000. That could hit Douglas hard where it hurts most, in his Cook County majority.

New Jersey: Before: Clifford Case is the victim of circumstances. After: How can he lead on Case, and what with unemployment and the Republican organization in Bergen County being in ruins, it's hard to see how Case can win. But he just might.

Wisconsin: Before: The Republicans look in much worse shape than 1932. Kohler could lose the governorship, and more than one Congressional seat is very doubtful. After: The Republicans have been plugging the theme, "Do you want your son in battle to get higher prices for your cattle," and its seems to be catching on with the dairy farmers. There's in better shape, but the Milwaukee junior McCarthy, Charley Kersten, still looks like a loser.

Chinese Reds Want Peace, Says Nehru

By JOHN RODERICK
SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — Indian Prime Minister Nehru says China's Communist rulers want peace to carry out 15 or 20 years of intensive industrial development.

Stopping off here en route home from his 10-day visit to Peking, India's Premier told newsmen yesterday the Red government chief, Mao Tse-tung, had estimated three or four five-year plans would be needed to put China on her feet economically and that he wants to avoid anything which would block achievement of this goal.

"My visit to China has led me to believe the people of China are anxious to have peace and avoid war," Nehru declared.

After an overnight visit here with South Viet Nam officials, Nehru flew on yesterday to Phnom Penh, the capital of Cambodia. He is due back in New Delhi Tuesday, with an hour fueling stop planned for Rangoon en route.

The Indian leader said Mao thought the Geneva agreements ending the Indochina war "had eased the world situation greatly, but of course it continues to be difficult and full of problems."

He listed the Korean question, Formosa and the general situation in Indochina as the three most critical problems menacing peace.

We Recommend 'Yes' Vote on All Amendments

Four amendments to the constitution of the State of Minnesota will be up for a vote when you go to the polls tomorrow. You will receive a small pink ballot on which will be printed a brief summary of each of the proposals.

During the past week we have discussed in this column the first three amendments and today we will tell you about the fourth and review the first three.

You should remember that failure to vote on a constitutional amendment in this state is, in effect, a vote against it. All of the amendments have been carefully studied and have no active opposition. They have, in fact, been recommended by many groups from all walks of life and by members of both parties. They are noncontroversial and will benefit all citizens of the state if approved.

Amendment No. 4 is titled, "Filling Vacancies in Elective Offices by the Governor."

At present, if a state officeholder dies during his term of office, the constitution provides that the governor may appoint a successor "until the next election." Election comes in November, however. That leaves the two months until Jan. 1, of the following year, when the newly elected official would take over, without an incumbent in the office. It makes necessary the silly practice of candidates filing for the "short term" for state offices—all of the expense and red tape of listing and voting on a candidate, to be elected for a mere sixty days of service.

This amendment would correct this awkward and foolish practice by permitting the governor to name an appointee to an empty office "until the first day of January following the next general election," thus eliminating the short term fiasco. In the interests of economy and sensible government this amendment deserves adoption.

Here is a review of the first three amendments previously discussed in more detail:

Amendment No. 1 is described as, "Probate Court Jurisdiction and Qualification of Judges."

This is a proposal to modernize the state's probate and juvenile courts; to give wider powers to these judges; to permit the Legislature to define the qualifications of judges. This amendment has been submitted to the voters at previous elections, has won a majority of the votes cast on the question but has failed to achieve a majority of the total vote cast—in other words has been defeated by those who failed to vote at all on the question. It is hoped that this year there will be sufficient interest to provide the necessary majority for approval.

Amendment No. 2 is labeled, "Liability of Stockholders in Certain Corporations."

Back in pioneer days, state banks were permitted to issue currency. In order to make such banks, and the stockholders thereof, cautious in exercising this authority, the constitution provided that stockholders of state banks could be assessed double the value of their stock, if the bank failed. Today state banks do not issue currency, the great majority of state banks have elected to come under the federal program of insuring deposits, this double liability assessment clause is only a handicap to state banks and of no real value to depositors. Voters will be acting to modernize the constitution and to strengthen state banking if they vote "yes" for Amendment No. 2. Only one other state in the union, Utah, now has this antiquated provision in its constitution.

Amendment No. 3 is described as, "Revision and Adoption of New State Constitution."

Minnesota needs a new or a revised state constitution. A state constitutional convention should be called to draft such a new or revised instrument of government. At present, however, there is no explicit provision that such a draft of a changed constitution must be submitted to the electorate for approval. This amendment would insure voters the right of voting on any new or revised state constitution before it could be adopted. It insures protection of the public in this vital matter and for that reason deserves adoption.

This newspaper recommends a "yes" vote on all of the four amendments.

Party Label Has Lost Its Power

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
NEW YORK — This perhaps is the most significant fact in the now concluded campaign; the stature and influence of both political parties have suffered a decline among the people. Candidates are running in their own names and on their own personalities. The parties have ceased to matter. As I write this, I am in Louisville, Ky., where the ancient Veep, Alben Barkley, is contesting the seat in the United States Senate of John Sherman Cooper. Here, as everywhere else, the contest is personal, as though there were no political parties. It is a popularity contest. Both had signed the silly agreement to be gentle.

Furthermore, in each state the campaign is local. Just as in New York the Democrats are attacking Thomas E. Dewey, who is not a candidate, so in Ohio, the contest between George Bender and Thomas Burke is affected by the popularity of Gov. Lausche who is not a candidate. In Massachusetts, Leverett Saltonstall faces the wall of Joe McCarthy which, in Massachusetts, is a local issue, and Irving Ives in New York may lose because New York McCarthys threaten not to vote at all. None of this has anything to do, pro or con, with the Eisenhower legislative program.

ALTHOUGH PRES. EISENHOWER provides statistics to establish the smallness of unemployment, the fact remains that in many areas there is unemployment. This is particularly true in coal states, coal being a dying product outmoded by other fuels and competing with residual oil from abroad which should not be admitted to this country under any circumstances because it is not required by our economy and only serves as a socially dislocating element. The same is true of railroad workers, particularly those whose roads depend to a degree on the shipment of coal. The layoff of such workers, many of whom are accustomed to vote Republican, is a serious factor in this campaign. The same is true of automobile workers in Michigan, who are not impressed by statistics which do not relate to their personal experience. The emotions of unemployment can never be treated by the barbiturate of statistics.

While the farm community is divided over the question of rigid or flexible price supports, those farmers who are hit by falling prices fail to recognize that any reduction of our inflation is beneficial to them. Each man casts his own vote and is affected by his own immediate concerns. Farm prices have been too high from the standpoint of the city purchaser but not from the standpoint of the selling farmer. And the city man votes in his state and the farmer in his. And whereas the city man does not vote on the basis of a lowering price, the farmer does and must take that into consideration.

SOONER OR LATER, the current excitement over the relation between cigarette paper and cancer will adversely affect those states where tobacco for cigarettes is grown. One of the major economic and social difficulties we face is overproduction of agricultural commodities. It is used to be argued, in the depression days, that it is impossible to over-produce—that it is only possible to underconsume. Learned economists wrote tomes on the subject. We now know that that it is not correct and the evidence is available in the storehouses of the Department of Agriculture where lie butter and wheat and cotton and many other agricultural commodities for which there is no market in the United States and none abroad unless we give the stuff away.

The farmer who is producing too much refuses to acknowledge that he is the one; it is always the other fellow. Production is a personal matter that means prosperity or indebtedness for the individual family. On the other hand, it is impossible to convince a farmer that he is not entitled to price supports when such a contract has been written for the Dixon-Yates group which gives them a guaranteed profit. If a profit is guaranteed a public utility, whatever the reason, how can it be said to the farmer that he may plant the crops but not reap the profits?

This inconsistency of policy is a definite factor in the present campaign and will affect the political action long after the campaign is over. A benefit given to one economic segment must, politically, be balanced by benefits to other economic segments of the population.

Texan Puts Bite on Federal Job-Holders

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Jack Porter, the charming and energetic Texan who first pumped for Eisenhower, has sent out an amazing letter demanding money from federal job-holders in his state. The letter comes close to the border line drawn by the Hatch Act against "macing"—forcing contributions from officeholders.

Porter is a wealthy Houston oil man and Republican National Committeeman who went to see Eisenhower in Paris in the spring of 1952 and brought back word that Ike would be against the Supreme Court on tidelands oil. Despite the fact that the Supreme Court had ruled against Texas, Louisiana and California, General Eisenhower wrote Jack Porter a letter taking the opposite stand. This was one reason why Texas went overwhelmingly for Ike two years ago and why so much Texas money has poured into the GOP campaign chest.

Today Porter is writing letters to every federal officeholder in the Lone Star State demanding money — on the excuse that it is costly to "process" a federal job. Just what Porter means by "processing" a job is not explained, but some officeholders have construed it to mean that if they don't contribute Porter will "process" them out of their jobs.

Furthermore, he names the exact amount he wants them to donate. One postmistress who makes only $150 a month was told she would have to contribute $175. U.S. attorneys, collectors of internal revenue and other top officials are being told to kick in for as much as $500.

Lawyers who have examined Porter's unusual demand say that it definitely violates the spirit of the Hatch Act, if not the letter. The Hatch Act prohibits any official from soliciting political contributions from federal employees and further prohibits anyone from soliciting on government premises.

Porter got around the letter of the law by using the U.S. mails, not soliciting on the premises. The wording of his letter, however, as published below, seems to come awfully close to the Hatch Act. Written on stationery of the "Republican party of Texas" and dated Sept. 28, 1954, the letter follows:

"As you are probably aware, our state headquarters, which processes all of the appointments to federal positions in Texas, must be supported by contributions. In addition to that, we have to raise funds for our congressional and legislative candidates. It is vital that we give President Eisenhower a Republican-controlled Congress and we have an excellent chance to elect some congressmen in Texas.

"The actual cost of processing an appointment in Texas is substantial and must be paid for out of party funds. Our only source of revenue is contributions, and we do not feel that we are asking too much in suggesting a contribution from you in the amount of...

"Contrary to widespread misinterpretation, there is no restriction in the so-called Hatch Act or any other federal regulation against making contributions to a political party in a federal officeholder's name. There is, however, a restriction against soliciting such contributions at a federal place of employment. Officeholders are also prohibited from soliciting such contributions themselves.

"I will appreciate it if you will give us a prompt reply, as only a few weeks are left before election day. Please make checks payable to: Harris T. Gregg, treasurer, 4016 Montrose Boulevard, Houston 6, Texas.

"Thanking you, and with best wishes, I am

"Sincerely,
H. J. Porter."

Guard Your Eyesight Carefully

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

A practical demonstration is usually the best method of explaining anything. I'm going to give you a practical demonstration in this column on how to help aid your eyes—and maybe prevent unnecessary eyestrain and even headaches.

Our eyes are one of our most prized possessions. They are also one of the most delicate mechanisms we have. You can preserve your eyesight.

Here's how:
First, of course, watch for the initial symptoms that indicate failing sight. If you have difficulty reading at a distance, or reading fine print, have your eyes examined.

If you already wear glasses, it's a pretty good idea to have your eyes checked at least every year or two, sooner if necessary. That goes also for those of you who might not wear glasses, but are advancing in age.

Now for those demonstrations. Good Light Essential
It's always important, you know, to read in the proper light—not too dim, not too bright.

It's also important that you stop reading every so often and relax. Try it now. Close your eyes and just relax for a moment or two. Do that several times while you are reading this paper and you'll help ease the strain on your eyes. Develop the habit whenever you read.

There's another habit those of you who wear glasses could develop, too. Take them off for a moment, look at the lenses and replace them.

I think most of you will find the lenses were smeared or filled with dust. Clean your glasses before you turn the page and from now on clean them frequently during the day. Blurred vision can bring on eyestrain or headaches.

Question and Answer
S. B.: I think I may have multiple sclerosis. What are the symptoms?
Answer: The most common symptoms of multiple sclerosis are blurring of the eyesight, weakness or tingling in the arms or legs, and clumsiness and awkwardness in the use of one hand. At times, the condition may start suddenly with paralysis or severe weakness of the arms and legs, with numbness and tingling.

Various drugs have been employed in the treatment of this condition, such as Neostigmine and Mephenesin to relieve or lessen the muscle spasm. Heparin has also been used, and appears valuable in preventing any recurrences.

You should have a complete study made of your condition by your physician to determine whether or not you actually are suffering from multiple sclerosis. If so, your doctor will prescribe the proper treatment in your case.

Eisenhowers Hear 'Election Prayer'

WASHINGTON (U) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at St. John's Episcopal Church yesterday and heard a visiting minister pray for God's guidance in tomorrow's election.

The minister, Dr. Charles W. Lowry, said in his sermon there is need for religion in politics, education and science. Without religion, he said, politics "will turn into false ethics and its countenance will be altered until we behold noble men leading their people but new fantastic idols with hideous human features before which men prostrate themselves and sell their souls."

Income Tax Packets Tip to 1953 Earnings

WASHINGTON (U) — A letter you get late next month may provide a tipoff to your neighbors as to what salary bracket you were in last year.

Crooks Show No Partiality
For Any Political Party

To the Editor:
Defenders of the Eisenhower Administration have recently supplied your letter columns with a lot of nonsense that needs to be answered. I would like to rebut them point by point, but at this late stage in the campaign, it will be impossible to do so as it would require several very long letters.

In one of these letters dated Oct. 28, there is repeated the old charge of 20 years of Democratic corruption. I am afraid that crooks show no partiality for any particular political party. If the writer of this letter would admit the facts of our history, he would stop prating about Republican virtue and admit that as long as human beings belong to either party, there will be some dishonesty. At present, just give the Republicans long enough in office and this will be even more amply demonstrated than in the past two years which have brought to light already the Dixon-Yates deal, the steal or theft of more than $10,000 from the people of Kansas by the former Republican National Chairman Chip Roberts, the Minnesota Deal on the State Office Building Annex, former Gov. Hoffman's theft of $300,000 from the State of New Jersey, and assorted scandals.

The only difference between a Republican crook and a Democratic crook is that the Republican crook won't settle for peanuts. As further proof go back into history and look at the Credit Mobilier scandals of the Grant administration (the last administration by a great general). Look at Teapot Dome and the other large scale scandals of the Harding Administration. And when this present administration finishes its give-away, we'll be dealing with billions, because we are that much richer as a nation, thanks to 20 years of great Democratic rule.

The same letter advances unsupported charges about ADA in order to discredit Sen. Humphrey. The implication is that Humphrey is not really against Communism. But his voting record shows that he has always voted for the laws that are designed to prevent the spread of Communism. Senate colleagues of the 83rd Congress, respecting Sen. Humphrey's knowledge of foreign policy and his firm leadership against Communism, awarded him a coveted post on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He voted for aid to Korea in 1949, which if it had received sufficient support, might have prevented the Korean conflict.

It is always good to be a member of the Democratic Party because we can point out accomplishments in the record.

Coal Gas From Clogged Chimney Suffocates 3

SHENANDOAH, Pa. (U) — Three men suffocated yesterday in a gas-filled apartment. Police said the gas came from a clogged chimney badly damaged by Hurricane Hazel.

Deputy Coroner Martin Murphy identified the three as Steve Kolnick, 67, and Jacob Shistle, 58, two brothers, and John Kotes, 45, father of six children, who was visiting them. Murphy said there was a strong odor of coal gas in the apartment.

Police said the chimney became blocked with soot where a portion of it had been blown off by storm winds. They said the coal stove used to heat the place apparently hadn't been turned on since the hurricane until Saturday night.

Iran Asks Russia For Permission to Seek Lost Prince

TEHRAN, Iran (U) — Iran today awaited Russia's reply to her request that Iranian and American planes be permitted to fly over Soviet territory in search of the Shah's missing brother, Prince Ali Reza.

The Prince has been missing since Wednesday on a flight to Tehran from Gorgan, a cotton area near the Soviet border. An Iranian air force colonel was piloting him. The Iranian note to the Soviets, delivered yesterday to the Russian Embassy here, said it was "quite probable" the prince's plane had made a forced landing in the Russian territory bordering northern Iran.

Unconfirmed reports said a Soviet gunboat in the Caspian Sea had fired on an American rescue seaplane taking part in the search and that the Russians had refused to let American search planes fly over Soviet territory.

'Tourism' Only Survivor of Hurricane Hazel

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (U) — The only crop of this small Caribbean republic that escaped destruction by Hurricane Hazel is tourism. The happy folk whose slogan is "Bon Dieu Bon" (God Is Good) expect a record harvest in 1954-55.

Most of the towns in the western area devastated by Hazel were off the tourist track. The two main towns, Port Au Prince and Cap-Haitien, escaped unscathed. The little village of Berly, in the mountains south of Port Au Prince, never will be pointed out as a curiosity to visitors. The inaccessible hillside settlement, wiped out by a landslide, will be forgotten, except in local folklore. Its only markers will be an extensive scar across the face of a 4,000-foot mountain — and maybe, one day, a white cross. Mapou, near the south coast; exists as a deep natural lake in a basin between mountains. But this will eventually dry up, and the town will be rebuilt by whatever survivors there may be.

Non-Farm Worker Total Announced

ST. PAUL (U) — Non-farm employment in Minnesota during September reached 860,171, an increase of 8,775 from the 851,396 in August. The Minnesota Department of Employment Security in the report, released today, credited the increase mainly to the fact many workers were required for the state's sweet corn pack. Produce houses added 1,200 workers, needed for processing poultry. On the other hand, mining and railroad employment dropped 800 in an earlier than usual cold weather cutback on the iron range. The report said average weekly earnings of Minnesota factory workers rose to $74.19, an increase of $2.71 since August.

Sheba Eats Peanuts While Traffic Waits

LOS ANGELES (U) — Five-year-old Sheba took advantage of a traffic snarl-up to garner a half hour's trunk-or-treat style. It was easy for Sheba, a young lady elephant. Her trailer overturned on Firestone Boulevard Saturday night. She was unhurt. While she was waiting for the blocked lanes to be cleared she put on a show for youngsters making their Halloween rounds. "She spent all her time begging peanuts from the kids," highway patrolmen said.

La Crosse to Use Federal Building Lawn for Parking

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Further easing of the critical heart-of-La Crosse parking problem came Friday with announcement that a 150-by-80-foot lawn north of the Federal Building can now be converted into a vehicle lot.

Postmaster Oscar F. Paulson said U. S. Post Office Department officials in Washington, D. C., and General Service Administration officials in Chicago have approved the conversion.

The go-ahead ended efforts first begun 22 years ago to relieve the parking needs of local United States government employees downtown. The lot will not be public, Paulson said of instructions received from higher levels.

La Crosse Voting On One-Way Streets

LA CROSSE, Wis. — The city electorate on Tuesday will be given the opportunity to express its views regarding the principle of one-way streets as a traffic control policy for La Crosse.

On each ballot will be the question: "Shall the principle of one-way streets be adopted as a traffic control policy for the City of La Crosse?" Voters will merely record a "yes" or "no" on the ballot.

Minnesota Deserves a Wide-Awake Governor! VOTE FOR

Orville L. Freeman

Orville L. Freeman has the confidence of the DFL party. He consults here with Hjalmar Petersen, former Minnesota governor, now editor of the Askov-American and candidate for Railroad and Warehouse commissioner; Henry Arens, Jordan, former legislator and congressman; and Frank O'Gorman, Goodhue, DFL leader.

U. S. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Adlai Stevenson and Orville L. Freeman greeted a cheering, enthusiastic crowd of more than 12,000 at the DFL rally for victory and bean feed September 25. Humphrey and Stevenson predicted the election of Freeman in 1954 and stressed the importance of electing a Democratic governor. Mrs. Humphrey, far left, joined the victory rally.

The Freemans are active members of the Ebenezer Lutheran Church where Orville is a Deacon in the Church. They stop on their way home to talk with their pastor, Rev. Charles E. Johnson.

ORVILLE L. FREEMAN, the overwhelming choice of the Democratic Farmer Labor party, has taken to radio and television in a brilliant, incisive campaign to develop an intelligent, liberal program to improve Minnesota.

Mr. Freeman is a Marine Corps veteran, wounded, decorated, a graduate of the University law school. He is known as a man of courage, loyalty and high moral purpose.

This is his program:

BUILD MINNESOTA'S FUTURE. State government should take advantage of new economic opportunities such as the St. Lawrence Seaway, the discoveries of oil in North Dakota, development of taconite, etc.

KEEP INDUSTRY IN MINNESOTA. The state should encourage businesses in Minnesota by setting up a Development Credit Corporation, providing a law for Development Authorities to help communities plan joint action and attract new industries.

OPEN EASTERN MARKETS. Minnesota farm products can have outlets in the vast eastern markets if the illegal barriers there are removed. State government should take the lead to tear down this unfair wall. Discriminatory freight rates should be corrected.

AID SMALL BUSINESS. Small businesses are the backbone of our economy. Technical assistance and venture capital must be made available.

REDUCE UNEMPLOYMENT. Research into peat uses, taconite, manganese, and other undeveloped Minnesota resources will reveal additional places for employment of thousands of Minnesotans.

BUILDING GOOD SCHOOLS. Good communities, reduction in juvenile delinquency, the beginnings of good government are all found in good schools and state government can do much in assisting communities to pay for their schools.

OPPOSE SALES TAX. Freeman is opposed to the sales tax because it taxes those most who are least able to pay.

CONSERVATION. Mr. Freeman is determined to modernize the game and fish department to make Minnesota one of the best fishing, hunting and resort areas in the country.

Mr. Freeman's interest in farm problems started early—when he was a boy on the farm down near Zumbrota, Minnesota, where he was raised. He discusses with Norman McCrimmon, Kandiyohi Co., what a governor should do to help farmers in his state.

Orville is known to his friends as a warm-hearted and loyal friend. His constant companion at the coffee parties, the conventions, the rallies and meetings is his devoted wife, Jane.

Exercises Set To Music Prove Very Effective

By IDA JEAN KAIN
The average girl is less than lukewarm about setting up exercises—they're so uninspiring. But a rhythm routine is fun and slimming. One sedentary worker writes that she has hit upon a plan that helps her feel light as a feather and zips off bulky inches too. She dances through a radio program of music, blending stretch-bend-swings with dance movements.

Our exercise-to-music model has requested an effective routine to deal firmly with midsection and hip muscles. She added that just for fun she sometimes makes believe she is Cyd Charisse, the dancing star. That's a good idea.

Here are some dance-exercise movements suggested by Miss Charisse. By the way, you may be interested in knowing that this Texan took up dancing for her health when she was a little girl of eight. Seems to have been the perfect prescription—today she is the picture of health and has as graceful and shapely a figure as one could find in all movieland.

Turn on some music and stretch, bend, swing and reach. Feel the rhythm and let the movements flow from one into next, with no break in the pattern. This first dance-exercise reaches the big hip and thigh muscles, and tones the middle muscles too.

Standing, catch hold of a chair back for balance, with the left hand. Keep the weight on the left leg and swing right leg around from front to the rear in an arc, pointing toes, ballerina fashion. Then, bend forward, reaching toward the floor with right fingers as you swing right leg high up in back. S-I-T-E-T-H. Repeat three times, smoothly and rhythmically. Then change sides and swing with the left leg.

Try that each stretch-bend. Standing with feet well apart, arc arms overhead. Pull slim through the middle measurement and, moving to the music, bend slowly and smoothly to one side and then to the other. This slims the waist and pulls out those waist-to-wish-bone bulges.

Improvise your own rhythm slimmers as you swing and sway around the room. It's so much fun exercising to music, you may be carried away and overdo at the beginning. Ease into any routine, and stop exercising at the height of its invigorating effect. Here's the test: you should sleep soundly, and feel better the following day for having had a rhythm session. If not, you have overdone.

If you wish illustrated exercises, send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for For a Slimmer Midriff. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Winona Daily News.

Handwoven Tapestries in Library Display

The tapestries of Floyd and Margaret Brewer, St. Paul, will be on exhibit in the Bell Art Room of the Winona Public Library from today to Nov. 20. There are eleven wool tapestries and two rugs included in the display.

In explaining their work and the medium in which they chose to do it, the Brewers say, "A woven tapestry is a painting in wool. The same ingredients go into the creating of a tapestry as into all other forms of art—namely the artist's creative imagination plus his knowledge of harmony and rhythm of form, space, line, color and texture. Thus the spectator gets the same stimulation that he gets on seeing a fine painting or hearing a beautiful symphony."

They added, "We believe here is a medium in which modern art can truly find itself, for bold design and brilliant colors are suitable for tapestry. Woven tapestries are ideal wall decorations for the modern church, public building or home because their inherent warmth and softness provide the needed contrast to the coldness of steel and glass."

One of their largest tapestries, entitled "Two Gossips," is done in red, white and aqua against a black background. "Norah" done in an Oriental mood, shows a young girl and many flowers with lavender, yellow, orange and black as the predominating colors.

In a pair, or as separate works are two of the smallest tapestries, "Red Birds" and "Jeremiah," both framed in red and about 20 inches square. Jeremiah is a bird, and they go together in theme as well as in color. "Maypole Dance" done in blues and reds on a cocoa background, shows six stick-like figures dancing about a Maypole with much motion and gaiety.

"Mexican Night" is a multicolored piece showing all aspects of the life and activity of the Mexican people—churches, the people, the fireworks, the night sky. Very comparable to the "Maypole Dance" is one entitled "Skaters," done with three maroon figures on a background of gray, and also showing action, motion and balance.

"Ecstasy," a many-colored, many-designed piece, shows man and woman in love. "Blue Rhythm," also semi-abstract in design, is done in two shades of blue, with gray and white, and then accented with red.

A concert conductor, his musicians and a suggested audience of people and even some small animals are done in blue, red, brown and gold on a grey background in a tapestry called "Band Concert." "Christopher," a favorite so far as color is concerned, is a tapestry of a cat and a vase of flowers. There is blue sky and clouds, flowers, Christopher and many, many colors.

With the tapestries are two woven rugs, one called "Oriental Fantasy" and the other "Cranes Flying," both done in green backgrounds and showing the same artistic line and design as the wall hangings.

CLASS PLAY

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—The senior class of Whitehall High School, directed by William Dahl, will present the play, "Little Women," at the city hall Friday and Saturday evenings Nov. 12 and 13. The play was adapted by Arthur Jeanne from the novel by Louisa M. Alcott.

No Longer Is Cotton Packed Away For Winter. New cotton weaves reign all year long. At the left above, cotton is quilted for warmth in a dark gingham jumper designed by Lanz. Quilted cottons and cottons with quilt-like patterns are popular this season for collegian, career girl and young homemaker.

The jumper which has arrived in quilted cotton, velveteen, and corduroy, all cotton fabrics, is an adaptable fashion, worn with a blouse for classroom or office, and worn without a blouse and accented with jewelry, for late day occasions. The jumper above is teamed with a white cotton broadcloth blouse.

Cotton shows its fall and winter personality at the right above in a warm homespun tweed, an original weave combining black and gold. The gold thread goes around in a swirling pattern in this sophisticated coat dress by Sidney. Designed along princess lines, the dress juts out with a skirt worn over a crinoline. A tiny velveteen collar is the finishing touch of chic for this cotton tweed.

These reports said the bombers were accompanied by fighters.

The ministry also reported Communist Chinese on Tachen Island were bombarding Nationalist-held Yikiang (Orion River Mountain) Island. Both islands are northwest of the Tachens a few miles off the Chekiang coast.

Don't Make Saint Out of Luther, Speaker Declares

Reformation Day speakers called for renewed accent on the Gospel of salvation by grace through faith and less stress upon the reformers themselves at services here Sunday commemorating the 475th anniversary of Martin Luther posting the 95 theses on the door of Castle Church, Wittenberg, Germany.

Speaking before an audience of Lutherans from the area Synodical Conference at St. Martin's Church, Dr. B. W. Teigen, president of Bethany Lutheran College, Mankato, said, "Don't make a new saint out of Luther."

"Not Luther but the message of God is the gift of the reformation," he continued. "Let us not praise Luther for restoring this precious Gospel, but God, who worked through Luther."

Central Lutheran
At Central Lutheran, where dedication ceremonies were continued, Dr. Warren A. Quanebeck, professor of systematic theology at Luther Seminary, St. Paul, addressed four audiences from Winona and 35 area ELC churches.

Stating that the reformation continues today in three realms, Quanebeck listed them as follows: Upholding the authority of Scripture; proclaiming the priesthood of the individual believer; interpreting Christian freedom.

103 for Central
One hundred and three baptized members were received into the Central congregation on this third Sunday in the series of the dedication services. Two adult classes for religious instruction were held during the summer and fall in preparation for membership. They were admitted into the congregation at the second morning service held at 10:15 o'clock.

Services in the afternoon and evening were sponsored by the Filmore Circuit of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Rev. M. A. Braaten, Houston, read the Scripture and gave the invocation, the Rev. Percy Larson, Mabel, gave the benediction. Special music for the afternoon session was furnished by the combined choirs, Robert Frosser, directing.

During the afternoon session, the Faith Lutheran Church, St. Charles, was received as a member congregation of the Filmore Circuit. Leland Larson, secretary of the congregation, made the formal request for acceptance. He explained that services were first held last Palm Sunday. In July, the Rev. Phillip Ganzel was called as pastor. There are 18 families and 64 baptized persons. The every member canvass together with the organization of the congregation is completed so that it is now a congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Elected as officers during the business session were: The Revs. Overt Rust, Spring Grove, president; I. Z. Hyland, Peterson, secretary; A. M. Jothan, Lanesboro, stewardship secretary; Dr. L. E. Brynstad, Winona, Christian education secretary; M. R. Braaten, Houston, director of evangelism; R. J. S. Vordale, Preston, choral union director; Oscar Engenbretson, Spring Grove, and S. T. Severston, Wabasha, Home missions committee. The choral union of the circuit sang under the direction of the Rev. Vordale at evening services. A fellowship supper was served in the Fellowship Hall.

The evening service was the service of reformation with the Winona churches of the Ministerial Association guests. The Rev. Mr. Hyland assisting the Rev. Mr. Rust in conducting the service.

Dr. Quanebeck Speaks

Dr. Quanebeck spoke on the positive concept of the Reformation. "Through the Council of Trent the evils that had crept into the church, as the abuse of indulgences and the buying of Bishops were corrected so that they are a thing of the past in our day," he said. "There are many things to admire in the Roman Catholic Church, as the dignity of its church leaders, the heroism of its missionaries, its work of mercy through its hospitals, and its work of education."

Hence we come to acknowledge the Catholic Church today as something different from the 17th Century.

"But still there is one great difference between the Catholic Church and the Protestant. It is that which is written in Rom. 5:1

"We are justified by faith," and through this faith come to possess the peace of Jesus Christ. Here we find the parting of the ways. Only faith can be the path to God, and through faith we are justified before God," he concluded.

By faith, the speaker stated, we must not limit ourselves to the shallow concept of faith which believes merely that there is a God. Even the Devil has such a faith even though he lives in the fear of it, he said. Faith goes farther, since it involves a deep rooted devotion to God's mercy and love.

It is through such a faith that we come to acquire the righteousness of Jesus Christ for our salvation, he said.

IMPORTANT—TO ALL CITIZENS OF WINONA COUNTY

A couple of days ago, in a folder sent to you, in behalf of my opponent, references were made concerning my record. There were some shockingly misleading statements made. Anyone can confuse, confound and perplex people. It is an old political trick, one that I would be ashamed and embarrassed to resort to. During the four years I have served in the Minnesota Legislature it has been my duty, my obligation, my privilege to serve my district and the welfare of the people of Minnesota. That obligation has been fulfilled. I have never neglected one solitary issue vital to my district or the welfare of the State of Minnesota. This folder goes on further to state that my closest neighbors voted for my opponent in the September election. The secret ballot belongs to my very good neighbors. However, every one of them has expressed resentment over this statement. I have never resorted to "dirty" politics. I do not think the Voters of Winona County approve of this kind of campaign. A great many people have expressed indignation to me personally, about the methods used to discredit me.

Sheppard Case Bypasses Problem Of Illegal Juror

By WILLIAM NEWKIRK
CLEVELAND (AP)—The Sheppard murder trial temporarily bypassed a legal dilemma over a juror with a purported police record today, and went ahead with the business of finding two alternate jurors.

The disputed juror, James R. Manning, a real estate agent and father of three, showed up in his regular seat this morning, hunching forward in his chair and nervously staring straight ahead.

The prosecution says Manning failed to disclose he was convicted on a morals charge 11 years ago and this could mean having to start the trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard all over again.

Manning's pastor, Rev. G. R. Naumann, appeared in the court this morning, too, and talked with Judge Edward Blythin briefly before proceedings began.

The Rev. Naumann, pastor of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, told reporters Manning wants to be excused "with as little legal difficulty as possible."

"He'll try to get off the jury without any commotion, if that can be done," said Naumann. He added nothing conclusive came of his conference with the judge.

As he sat in his seat, Manning rocked nervously back and forth. The state says his morals conviction involved activities with a 15-year-old boy and that he received a suspended sentence.

Sheppard, who is charged with clubbing his wife, Marilyn, to death, appeared to be in an expansive mood today. He smiled frequently.

Only 20 of the prospective alternate jurors appeared today. Four were not found and one was ruled ineligible.

Before today's proceedings started, Assistant County Prosecutor John J. Mahon said he would ask Blythin to unseat Manning on grounds he testified at his morals trial.

SNAKE HANDLER Recovering From Cobra's Bite

DURANT, Okla. (AP)—Jerry Quick, 39-year-old snake handler, bitten by one of the world's most poisonous snakes Saturday, was recovering today and considered out of danger by his physician.

An Indian hooded cobra he was displaying for only a handful of spectators at his reptile garden near here nipped him on the thumb.

"These snakes have to bite or chew the venom in, unlike other snakes. Quick knew to turn the snake over on its back so it would turn loose quickly. Then he incised the wound."

Both Sides Confident of Election Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Victory for themselves — and certain defeat for the opposition — was predicted today by both Republicans and Democrats as candidates for state and congressional offices made their final campaign thrusts.

After long weeks of oratory and hand-shaking, neither side indicated any pessimism concerning prospects in the general election Tuesday. At least publicly, all were confident their efforts would pay off in election.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, (D-Minn.), seeking his second term, spoke of "certain defeat" for the Republicans.

State Treasurer Val Bjornson, the Republican who wants to replace Humphrey in the Senate, forecast "a vote of confidence" for the GOP.

Orville Freeman, in his second effort to unseat Gov. C. Elmer Anderson, was "confident" voters would respond to the "constructive campaign we in the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party have conducted."

Anderson, meanwhile, noted Minnesota has been having "progressive, humane, sound government" and pledged achievement of "still greater goals in the next two years." He added that he had no further political ambitions beyond continuing as governor.

Chairmen Optimistic
State chairmen of both parties were optimistic.

Ray Hemenway of Albert Lea, DFL head, predicted a large margin for Humphrey and a DFL capture of at least two seats now held by Republicans in the U.S. House.

Gordon Yock of Clara City, Republican chairman, foresaw a "landslide" for Anderson and a close victory for Bjornson. Moreover, he said the Republicans should pick up one or two House seats now held by Democrats.

However, a newspaper poll showed sentiment divided in the two chief contests. If the election results coincide with the poll findings, Yock and Hemenway would each be only partly correct.

The Minnesota Poll, published Sunday, showed a slight gain in strength by Anderson and Humphrey holding his own. On the basis of "probable voters," these percentages were reported by the poll.

Senator: Humphrey 58, Bjornson 42.
Governor: Anderson 53, Freeman 46.

In his pre-election message, Humphrey said that if the Democrats win control of Congress, they will start at once "drafting a constructive, forward-looking program for stimulating the American economy."

Plan for Task Forces
"We have already made plans for a group of Democratic task forces in the Senate and the House to go to work for the legislation that will be needed, including immediate revision of the present farm bill," Humphrey said.

The senator was critical of President Eisenhower's recent campaign efforts in behalf of Republican congressional candidates. Bjornson, on the other hand, noted a trend in the past week in favor of the Republican ticket.

"This trend was given great impetus by President Eisenhower's active participation in the campaign and by his request to the people to give him a Republican Congress to support his program for peace with security and prosperity."

Freeman said: "The voters of Minnesota are too intelligent not to resist a campaign that can offer no more than injured cries in response to honest criticism, that avoids taking a stand on issues by assuming a martyr's pose and calling names, that is willing to risk even our nation's security by an emotional appeal calculated only to win votes."

The DFL candidate added: "My Republican opponent's unwillingness to take a stand on issues is entirely consistent with the lack of positive leadership which has characterized his administration."

P. Kenneth Peterson, GOP candidate for lieutenant governor, said in a television speech today that President Eisenhower's recent appeal for a large election turnout will produce a greater vote than usual in elections without presidential races.

"There is no question but that a large turnout will favor the continuance of our present administration in Minnesota," Peterson added.

Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy, (D-Minn.), told a group of his supporters in the 4th District that his Republican opponent, Dick Hanson, should have included in his campaign ads "a statement as to his lobbying activities before the Minnesota state Legislature."

In a radio address prepared for delivery tonight, McCarthy said that if re-elected, he would "continue to represent the people of the district, and not serve as a rubber stamp to all proposals made by a President who had failed to carry Ramsey County in the 1952 election."

ONE of the most versatile materials for remodeling is Sheetrock. Sheetrock is or should be pretty familiar to a lot of you. It's been on the market for a good many years and it has been improved tremendously through those years. To show you how much it has improved from the first 4 x 8 sheet they ever turned out, now you can buy it in any length from 6' up to 12'. You can get 1/4", 3/8" and 1/2" thick. One can buy a pre-finished board in Knotty Pine, Bleached Mahogany, Walnut in either large sheets or in 18" panels. You can get a pre-finished paneling in Striated Natural color that will eliminate the need for any joint covering. They have even progressed to the outside of the house and made an outside sheathing that has proven very substantial—and fireproof. So you see, any job you might have to do there is a Sheetrock product made for it. Sheetrock in the sheet form presents no problem where the joints are concerned. These joints are taken care of by a patented joint system that uses tape and cement for a completely concealed job. If it's done right you can deny your neighbor to come in and find a joint after the job is finished. With the paneling there is nothing to be done with the joints. This material forms a paneled effect as each piece is put on. It's easy to work with too. Score it with a knife or sharp tool and break off. Breaks off clean and just where you mark it. It can be sawed too, like for junction boxes or on break-out pieces. Then after you're finished if you haven't used the pre-finished pieces, you can paint it, paper it, plaster paint it, use anything you want to on it and it works out fine. Sheetrock is fireproof. That's important and it's economical to use, that's important too. You can buy 1/2" Sheetrock for just 6¢ a sq. ft. If you were to put this in new construction here is something that has been coming along just swell. It's the new laminated dry-wall construction which utilizes 1 piece of Sheetrock applied horizontally and 1 piece cemented on top of it vertically. This brings your wall out to the same thickness as a lath and plaster job and it doesn't require a special jamb or window frame thickness. You can use stock size jambs and window door frames. Amounts to a savings and faster service, too. And it eliminates the necessity of letting your house dry out from a plaster job. All in all, Sheetrock is a practical wall covering; economical, fireproof and easy to use. For that extra room you're going to put on, or for that partition you're going to put in, look to Sheetrock for a very satisfactory solution to your problem of what "I can put on to finish it."

Plastic Film is stretched over a sand bed to prevent punctures. Reinforcing steel is laid on top. Concrete poured over this is permanently sealed against moisture.

Polyethylene Film Used in Building

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Did you ever think that those transparent vegetable bags in your refrigerator, or that moth-proof garment bag in your closet might make a good building material? If you did, you certainly missed something by keeping it secret. Now the largest manufacturer of cellulose sausage casings has hit upon the same idea and it looks like our houses of the future will be wrapped as snugly as knock-wurst.

Polyethylene film, the famous wonder plastic that was used to cover guns and ammunition during the invasions of World War II, is now being produced as a building material to keep basements permanently water-proof, to line the walls of houses with impregnable vapor barriers and to seal attics against roof leaks or other drips.

It's the same material as that used for packaging soup greens in the supermarket—only slightly thicker—the same as you may be using for furniture covers, table cloths and other household purposes. You can put it on the ground when pouring a concrete basement floor, or a concrete slab for a new house, and no moisture can seep through.

Won't Become Brittle
You can also put it on the ground under a house built over a crawl space, sprinkle a little sand on top to hold it down, and you have no worry about rotting joists under your house.

Big advantages of polyethylene film in house construction are that it is seamless, tough, nonflammable and, being chemically inert, it will not age or become brittle. Light in weight, it is easy to handle—100 square feet of the type used for lining side walls weighs less than a pound.

To apply a sheet of this material over the studs and insulation in the walls of a house—on the indoor side before you plaster—means that the steam from your shower bath or laundry won't seep through to push off the paint on the outside of your house.

The government's standards for a good vapor barrier state that it "should permit not more than 1 grain of water to pass through an area of 1 square foot in 1 hour." This plastic material passed that test with a 900 per cent margin to spare. It has to go to college to get that rating. The University of Minnesota's Institute of Technology found that the film permitted the passage of only a tenth of a grain of moisture under that severe test.

Slows Down Curing
So that makes it practical to use this film as a waterproofer on the outside of foundation walls. Concrete forms which require no internal bracing can be lined with the film. When the forms are removed, the film is left on the concrete as a permanent waterproof. No membraning is needed and the forms do not have to be oiled or greased for easy removal. But it is very important not to puncture the film.

Another advantage is that this material slows down the curing of the concrete for a stronger wall. A 6-inch overlap is sufficient to seal joints between sheets at any place—around foundations, in side walls, or under slabs.

The necessity for a gravel or cinder fill under a basement floor or other concrete slab is eliminated by the use of plastic film. But it is advisable to lay the material over a layer of tamped sand to protect it from puncture by rocks or other sharp irregularities.

A stapling gun is all you need to fasten these sheets to studs or rafters. Over subflooring as a dust and draft stopper, the material is used in as full widths as practical and is lapped up 6 inches on the side walls behind baseboards.

Aerosol Spraying
We tried out one of the new aerosol cans of spray paint last weekend and it certainly was a revelation. No brush or roller to clean and you can get the same high gloss finish that elaborate spray painting equipment puts on automobiles. The invention is a real time saver for small jobs.

This is an easy way to touch up chipped enamel on a refrigerator, range or sink. Now that 13 colors of enamel, plus clear acrylics, are available, you'll probably find the women folks spray painting almost every worn object in the house. You can get a six-ounce can for less than a dollar. The clear lacquer type is handy for the workshop. It will protect the finish on tools and chromium and prevent tarnish on brass. You can use it on leather luggage to keep it waterproof and new looking.

St. Mary's Gets Permit for $263,000 Job

St. Mary's College last week received a $263,000 building permit for its new 3-story science building.

According to the city engineer's permit, WMC, Inc., is the general contractor for the building that was designed by John J. Flad & Associates, Madison, Wis.

Located in the "horseshoe" between the Student Union and La Salle Hall, parallel to Highway 14, with the main entrance facing St. Mary's Hall, the building's three floors will house biology, chemistry and physics departments in addition to lounges.

Not included in the present contract, but planned for the structure, are an 81- by 44-foot auditorium seating 235 persons and a greenhouse, attached to the side facing St. Mary's Hall for use by the biology department.

Construction of the building is expected to be completed in about a year. The yellow brick facing of the building was selected to match existing structures on the college campus.

Two permits for new homes also were issued last week. A. M. Kramer, Prairie Island, will build a 30- by 40-foot house with attached garage at 1615 Gilmore Ave. at an estimated cost of $8,000 and Walter Lawrenz, 218 E. Mark St., estimated the same cost for a 32-foot 8-inch by 54-foot 4-inch structure on an existing foundation at 1304 Randall St.

A permit was issued to Winona County to replace windows at the highway department garage, 265 W. 3rd St., at a cost of $300 with Leon Inman, as the contractor. Permits for garage construction, both listing George Karsten as the contractor, were issued to Miss Agnes Bard, 673 Wilson St., and Mrs. Margaret Schiller, 1927 Gilmore Ave. Each will cost about $400.

R. S. Northam, 618 Center St., drew a $700 permit to add a room to the house.

Additional Permits
Other permits were issued to Harry Busdicker, 121 W. Broadway, $250, to shingle the outside walls of a house and dismantle two sheds at 418 E. King St.

Dominic Walski, 723 E. 2nd St., $200, to construct a stairway and porch.

Walter Woeg, 708 Grand St., $150, to construct a dormer in the roof.

A. S. Morgan, $100, to construct a partition and line a stairway at the Garden Gate Restaurant, 66 W. 3rd St., by Harry Patrick, contractor.

Andrew Frie, 725 W. 5th St., $75, to do interior remodeling at 1401 W. 5th St.

Mrs. Josephine Keiser, 464 E. Sanborn St., $85, to move a shed on the lot.

John Ellinghuysen, 512 Junction St., $50, to replace three windows with one large window.

Martin Tweeten, 416 E. 5th St., $10, to construct a stoop.

Herbert Nichols, 1215 W. 3rd St., $10, to enclose a window.

ESTIMATING PAINT

American Builder magazine points out that labor cost in painting is always higher than the price of the paint, so that a more expensive but longer-lasting paint is cheaper in the long run.

To estimate the amount of paint needed, measure the distance around the house, and multiply this figure by the height at the corners.

This gives the total side area. The gables are figured by multiplying the height of a gable by one-half its width. The side area in the sketch equals the perimeter, 110 feet, multiplied by the height, 22 feet, a total of 2,420 square feet. Each gable is 8 feet by 12 1/2 feet, or 100 square feet, and both gables total 200 square feet.

To find the quantity of paint needed, divide the total area (2,620 square feet) by the area that can be effectively covered by one gallon, a figure that the paint dealer can give you.

FLOOR SLEEPERS

To lay a hardwood floor over sleepers on a concrete slab it is necessary to place the sleepers only 12 inches apart on centers unless a subfloor is used. The usual spacing of 16 inches on centers is acceptable with a subfloor.

U.S. Bond Sales Total $68,275 In Winona County

Sales of series B and H savings bonds in Winona County during September amounted to $68,275, bringing the total for the year to $227,597, or 70 per cent of quota, according to Donald T. Winder, county savings bond chairman.

James C. Driscoll, Caledonia, bond chairman for district 10, of which Winona County is a part, reports that banks, and press, radio and television facilities are backing up a concentrated effort in the closing months of the year to assure a successful conclusion to 1954 sales operations.

For the state as a whole, September sales were $6,700,000, 13 per cent over a year ago, with the year-to-date dollar volume reaching $55,700,000, compared with $54,800,000 at this time in 1953.

National sales for the first three quarters of 1954 totaled $3.7 billion, a gain of more than 12 per cent over a year ago. During this period sales exceeded redemptions of matured and unmatured bonds by approximately $315 million, the largest net gain for such a period since 1949. Area county totals through September 30 include:

Schmitt, Lake City; William A. Zarling, Plainville; Loren Parker, Elgin; and Alvin Reincke, Lake City. At the organization meeting Schmidt was elected president; Parker, vice president; and Zarling, Taylor and Lawrence Sass members of the loan committee.

The Wabasha County association held its meeting at Millville and elected Joseph Roland, Zumbro Falls, to succeed himself as a member of the board. Holdover members are George A. Schmitt, Lake City; William A. Zarling, Plainville; Loren Parker, Elgin; and Alvin Reincke, Lake City. The Olmsted County association met at Rochester and elected James A. Henry, Rochester, to succeed himself as director for a 3-year term. Holdover members are Raymond J. Keane, Rochester; Harold Brekke, Stewartville; and Clarence Stokes, Chatfield. At the organization meeting Keane was elected president; Brekke, vice president; and Henry, Sass and Stokes members of the loan committee.

Each of the boards concurred in the election of W. E. Spencer, secretary-treasurer. Other employees are Albert F. Pries, fieldman, and Marilyn Griffin and Marge Ryan, office assistants. The Rochester office won the "office of the month" award for August. The award is issued by the Federal Land Bank each month to the office closing the largest number of loans. The Rochester office services loans in the approximate amount of $3,800,000 for about 900 members in its three counties.

The Casual Observer

By GRETCHEN L. LAMBERTON

THE other day I saw some extraordinary and beautiful photographs, some of them in an album made of python skin, others in a portfolio of thick crocodile hide. "These three lions I snapped from a distance of only 12 feet," said Dr. C. John Albrecht. "They were so engrossed in eating a dead ostrich that they paid no attention to me. I focused the camera and gave a whistle. They looked up, and I got this marvelous picture. You know, often you can get right up to a lion and he'll just rise with great dignity and move away. Lions are creatures of great nobility and dignity. They just don't like to be crowded."

The lions were looking up, heads tilted carelessly, with an innocent and happy expression. They were completely beautiful. Dr. Albrecht, a tall, powerfully-built man with graying hair, is an animal sculptor, author, zoologist, explorer, lecturer, college professor, big game hunter. He has taught at universities, been a staff member of the American Museum of New York and the Field Museum of Chicago. He is a great friend of Emil Liers of Homer, who is himself a great naturalist and animal authority, and was spending a day with him.

Dr. Albrecht was commissioned by the Field Museum to go into the African jungle for fine animal specimens for the museum, and he spent over a year in the Saragatti-Kenya wilds. He also took many extraordinary animal pictures. In one he caught 37 giraffes browsing peacefully.

For his great Field Museum animal group "Water Hole" he stalked and shot a giant giraffe over 17 feet tall. It was so huge that it took six strong men to turn the body over so that he could skin it. Dr. Albrecht, a skilled taxidermist, skinned all the perfect animal specimens that were bagged for the museum, then later sculptured the body in clay and fitted the skin onto it. The great group in the Field Museum, called "Water Hole" is the largest in the world and cost more than $100,000 to construct.

One of his most beautiful animal groups is of a family of snow leopards from the Himalayas. These big handsome white cats spotted in black with long fluffy tails are the most playful as well as the most beautiful of the leopard family. In this group done for the museum Dr. Albrecht had them playfully batting a great scarlet tropical bird—a brilliant and sensational color composition.

Perhaps his most sensational and dangerously achieved picture is of a monstrous Alaskan Kodiak bear charging him. Dr. Albrecht was so intent on getting a fine picture of this ten-foot giant that he waited until the charging animal was practically upon him. "That was a bit foolhardy," admitted the doctor with a grin, "but it is a good picture, isn't it?"

There are some breathtaking pictures of northern lights taken in the Arctic Circle, and also some fiendish arctic blizzards. Dr. Albrecht said that their caribou fur suits kept them comfortable up to 60 below zero. He spent one whole winter in a cabin with an old Arctic circle trapper. There is a magnificent snapshot of this rugged old trapper leaning against the window and gazing out at a furious blizzard. Another time exposure taken at night shows the cabin half buried in snow, with a brilliant square patch of light from the Coleman lamp reflected in the snow, and incredible zig-zags of northern lights streaking in the sky above the rooftop.

Right now Dr. Albrecht is absorbed in the project of catching photographically the flight pattern of grouse. "I retired several years ago and this is just for fun," he explained. Dr. Albrecht will be heard on the Casual Observer program tomorrow morning at 10:30 over KWNQ.

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggly was jumping up and down in his hollow stump bungalow. The bungalow was in woodland near the Orange Ice Mountain.

The rabbit gentleman was shouting: "Ouch! Oh, my teeth! Oh, what a pudding!"

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was running round the kitchen, looking on plates, on saucers, in bowls and in teacups. The muskrat lady housekeeper was squeaking:

"What did I do? What's the matter with the pudding, Uncle Wiggly? Please tell me! And what is the matter with you that you jump so?"

In the dining room of the bungalow, where Uncle Wiggly was jumping up and down the telephone was ringing — "Ting-a-ling-ling!"

"Please answer the telephone, Nurse Jane!" Uncle Wiggly called.

"I will answer the telephone when you tell me why you are jumping up and down," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"This is why I am jumping up and down," replied the rabbit uncle. He took from his mouth some whole, hard hickory nuts in their shells.

"However did those hickory nuts get in your mouth?" Nurse Jane wanted to know.

"From the nut pudding that you made for me," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I took a big bite of the pudding. I knew it had nuts in you for you said it was a nut pudding. But I expected to find soft nut meats and not hard nuts and nut shells in the pudding. I jammed my teeth into the nut shells. I hope I have broken none of my teeth. But that is why I am jumping up and down. Now will you please answer the telephone, Nurse Jane?"

"Yes, I will do that," answered the muskrat lady. She stopped running around, looking into saucers, bowls and other dishes for the nut meats.

"Hello! Hello!" called Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy into the telephone which had now stopped ringing. "Hello! Oh, it is you again, Mrs. Bushytail! Oh, dear me! Yes! Yes!" exclaimed the muskrat lady. "Oh, what a funny trick to play! Yes, it wasn't exactly a funny trick. Oh, he is very sorry, is

GOP Has Campaign Fund Surplus, But Democrats in Red

WASHINGTON (U) — Official reports on campaign finances show that the Republican National Committee went into the final lap of the congressional campaign with a surplus of funds while its Democratic counterpart operated in the red.

In a report to the House, the GOP organization said Saturday that up to Oct. 31 it had collected $1,356,216 and spent $1,214,763.

A separate report from the Democratic committee showed collections of $960,134 and spending of $1,031,669.

The reports are required by the corrupt practices law of 1925.

he? Well, so am I! So is Uncle Wiggly. I should have looked at the nuts before I put them in the pudding. He will be right over, will he? That's fine! Goodbye!"

Uncle Wiggly had been hopping around the room while Nurse Jane was talking over the telephone. When she stopped talking the rabbit gentleman stopped hopping.

"Who was that, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy?" asked the rabbit.

"It was Mrs. Bushytail, the squirrel mother of Johnnie and Billie."

"What did she want?" asked Uncle Wiggly. He was rubbing his face with his left front paw for his teeth still hurt.

"She didn't want anything," answered Nurse Jane.

"Then why did she call on the telephone?"

"She wanted to tell me something. Mrs. Bushytail wanted to tell me something. That's why they are called telephones—because you can tell things over them," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"What did Mrs. Bushytail want to tell you, Nurse Jane?"

Uncle Wiggly was now slowly walking around the room. He seemed to be listening for something. "What did Mrs. Bushytail tell you, Nurse Jane?"

"She told me, Mr. Longears, about a trick that Johnnie played on you a little while ago."

"Johnnie Bushytail played a trick on me?" asked the rabbit uncle. "I don't remember any trick that he played."

"Johnnie's mother said that he came home, a little while ago, with a lot of nut meats, all picked out of the shells. He told his mother that he took the nut meats and left, in their place in the basket, the nut shells that you took the meats from. There were also some whole uncracked nuts in with the shells. Johnnie did that!"

"Oh, dear me hum suz dud and a dentist with a lollypop for a drill!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly.

"Hark!"

"Why should I hark?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I am listening for ticks," answered Mr. Longears. "Hark!"

Why was Uncle Wiggly listening for ticks? He can tell you in tomorrow's story if the table fork doesn't take the sticks off the lollypops when it puts them in the jelly bean pie to make a sandwich for the gold fish.

Mallards Moving
Best duck hunting so far this season was experienced by hunters in the upper river pools over the weekend. The big mallards raised out of the "closed areas" and rode the first blast of winter southward. There was also some movement of northern birds into the area.

Most hunters, Bill Green, Refuge biologist reported, came in with limits Friday afternoon, Saturday and Sunday hunting slowed down, mainly because of the lack of hunting pressure on the Minnesota side of the river. Many duck hunters went to Western Minnesota after pheasants. In the better duck areas of Wisconsin, the Mississippi River bottomlands produced good shooting all three days.

Typical of the birds bagged by hunters are the dozen mallards that three Wisconsin hunters are holding in the above picture, taken after shooting hours Friday at Buffalo City. The hunters, left to right, are Harry C. Palm, Merriam and Howard Wenzel and William Kling, both of Black River Falls.

Birds in the skies flying high over the weekend were not plentiful enough to indicate a major flight, unless they passed in the darkness of the night, according to hunters and rangers in the field. In other words, the cold snap did not start the big flight through this area. It is to come later, if there will be one this year. Some observers contend the big flights of waterfowl southward in the fall are events of the past that hunters of yesterday can tell about to open mouthed hunters of today — skies black with ducks etc.

Here is another of the Corps of Engineers releases on pool conditions along the upper river coming from the District Engineer's office in St. Paul. It is an indication of cooperation now being given recreation by the Army Engineers. It was dated Saturday.

Best 2 Months Of Business Year Remain

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (U) — The best two months of the year lie just ahead for business.

They may not knock your eye out, but the business news stories for the next eight weeks should be the pleasantest reading of the year. Merchants believe this Christmas season will be as good as a year ago, if not better. Many manufacturers also expect increased sales and production, and a gain either in number of hours worked or number of workers hired.

The rise probably will be moderate, but after a solid year of seeing comparative figures usually showing up on the minus side, business will welcome the change.

If November and December deliver as anticipated, the final tally for the year will be improved in a number of lines.

Businessmen are looking for better times for the following reasons:

The basic industries are waking up. After as slow an October as they have known since the war, auto production lines are ready to operate at high speed, now that model change-overs are ending. If all goes well, November and December passenger car output could approach the million mark.

This will be a boon not only to the re-employed auto workers (who will have money to spend for Christmas) but also to the companies supplying the car makers. Steel output already is foreshadowing the good news in Detroit. Mills are now operating at 75 per cent of capacity, and in the next few weeks may go up to 80 per cent temporarily. Steelworkers and coal miners will benefit.

Job increases in the basic industries should be matched by the seasonal gains in retail trade, as stores take on extra holiday help, the post offices hire more hands, electric power output rises to a peak, and traffic jams go from awful to supercolossal.

With inventories reasonably low now, manufacturers believe that any pickup in retail sales will quickly work back along the line in new orders and increased factory production.

One harbinger of better business, freight car loadings, already has increased to the highest level in a year.

The construction industry, feeding on easy money, is expected to take less than its usual seasonal drop when bad weather sets in this year.

Mail-order houses, who have reported lower sales most of this year, say orders are picking up chiefly, perhaps helped by the price cuts featured in their latest catalogues. They have been especially hurt by the drop this year in farm incomes.

'Can't Violate Law To Enforce It,' Burnquist Says

ST. PAUL (U) — A private citizen, although he may make an arrest, cannot violate the speed laws in attempting to identify the driver of a speeding car, Atty. Gen. Burnquist said today.

A request for ruling was made by City Attorney Philip R. Monson, of Fergus Falls, after a special patrolman chased a car going at least 55 to 60 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone.

The special patrolman merely took the license number and reported it to police. The car owner was checked and it resulted in the owner's wife coming into court with her attorney.

Under the Fergus Falls city charter, the mayor, in case of unusual occasions requiring more police, may appoint such other patrolmen, but the appointment cannot continue in force for more than three days.

Specifically, Monson asked Burnquist if the special policeman, appointed under the charter provision, is subject to prosecution for having exceeded the speed limit in order to identify the violator.

"If he was a de facto officer," Burnquist said, "then I see nothing in the facts stated which would subject him to prosecution. If you conclude that he was not a de facto officer, but in making the pursuit was acting as a private citizen, we have a somewhat different situation. A private citizen may make an arrest, but this person made no arrest."

"So far as the facts disclose, he was simply investigating facts, attempting to obtain the license number to identify the driver of the speeding car. A private citizen making an investigation is not justified in violating the statute or an ordinance."

The legal opinion points out that the person in question did not take an oath of office. The oath is not required, however, under authority in the charter provision.

Antimonopoly Group to Seek Million Dollars

WASHINGTON (U) — Two Senate antimonopoly subcommittee members investigating the Dixon-Yates project will seek a million dollars next year for "relentless" inquiry into that and other phases of what they term the "giant problem" of monopolistic practices.

Chairman Langer (R-ND) and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said Sunday they will ask Congress to vote the funds for the subcommittee so it can assemble an expert staff and "undertake a relentless job of inquiry, evaluation and recommendation."

Congress failed to appropriate money for the group last session despite Langer's protests. The work has proceeded with other funds and facilities available to the North Dakota, who also heads the parent Judiciary Committee.

Langer and Kefauver have been holding public hearings on the proposed Dixon-Yates contract, which they both oppose. Under the contract, which the Eisenhower administration has approved but not yet signed, a private utility group known as Dixon-Yates would build a 107-million-dollar electric generating plant near Memphis, Tenn., to supply power through Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), public power lines to replace TVA power sent to atomic plants.

Wilbur Shaw, Retired Auto Race Driver, Dead

DECATUR, Ind. (U) — Wilbur Shaw, 51, retired onetime champion automobile race driver, three-time winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race, and in recent years president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, died Saturday.

The two senators said in a joint statement that evidence they have gathered "shows grave doubt as to the effectiveness of the holding company act" designed to limit centralized control of power companies.

Besides power, they said, studies are needed of the effects of monopoly on retail prices of both manufactured goods and farm products, of business mergers, and of agency and other contracts which they said involve "increasing regimentation of main street businessmen by monopolists" in such fields as automobiles, tire and gasoline dealers, motion picture theaters and food stores.

Call to Nixon Work of Crank

SEATTLE (U) — An anonymous telephone call, which said poisoned food had been delivered to Vice President Nixon's hotel room here Saturday night, appeared today to have been the work of a crank.

Burt C. Cline, Secret Service agent in charge of the Seattle office, said "nothing has turned up so far" in laboratory tests of the food made by a Seattle firm.

"But there will be several hours more of testing before we can be certain," he added.

Meantime, the vice president and his party had flown to Denver and Nixon said there he planned to revise his nationally telecast address tonight to strike back again at Adlai Stevenson. He listened to Stevenson's New York broadcast address a few minutes after the "poison scare" incident here Saturday night and took notes on it.

At Denver, he told newsmen yesterday the Democratic presidential candidate of two years ago had made "one of the most vicious attacks through innuendo on President Eisenhower that I have ever heard."

Columbia Honors Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth

NEW YORK (U) — Britain's Queen Mother Elizabeth now holds high academic honors from Columbia University — an institution chartered just 200 years ago by another royal Britisher, King George II.

With her role in Columbia bicentennial celebrations completed, the Queen Mother today resumes her program to see as much as she can during her stay in the New York area. She is scheduled to visit the Cloisters, where the Metropolitan Museum of Art's medieval collection is housed.

She was one of 48 distinguished persons to receive honorary degrees from Columbia yesterday.

Tactics of Left Wing Democrats Attacked by Nixon

WASHINGTON (U) — Vice President Richard Nixon said today a "fanatical, left wing clique" of Democrats has conducted a "dishonest" campaign, based on the "big lie" technique, for an "anti-Eisenhower Congress."

"They started this campaign by questioning the President's honesty," Nixon said in a statement. "They are ending it by slyly impugning his patriotism."

"I know that millions of Democrats will resent the tactics of this left wing group whose standards of honesty, security, and morality are not representative of the great traditions of the Democratic party."

Nixon referred to it as "the Stevenson-Truman campaign to elect an anti-Eisenhower, ADA, left wing Congress." He did not mention any other names. ADA are the initials of Americans for Democratic Action, a group which describes its members as anti-Communists, liberals, and supporters of the principles of the New Deal and Fair Deal.

Nixon said a Saturday night speech by Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, "was one of the most vicious, scurrilous attacks ever made by a major political figure on the President of the United States."

Stevenson said in his Saturday night speech that the President evidently "has embraced" what Stevenson called the GOP "campaign of slander."

Stevenson also said that Eisenhower, by repeating a Republican contention that the Democrats never brought prosperity except through war, had affirmed GOP campaign material which has been "standard Communist propaganda for years."

Nixon, now campaigning in the West, telegraphed his statement to the Associated Press. Noting that Stevenson's address was broadcast by NBC, Nixon described his statement as a condemnation of what he would have said if he had had broadcast time for a reply to Stevenson.

The vice president said the "Stevenson-Truman campaign" was made up of:

"Quips—50 per cent.
"Tumult and name calling—45 per cent.
"Honest discussion of the issues—5 per cent."

He added: "It is apparent that they cannot forget that theirs was the 5 per cent administration."
Nixon said a repeated cry of "smear" had come from the opposition but that "not one of the members of this group has been able to name any statement I have made in this campaign which is untrue."

Young Officer Awaits Trial

AUGUSTA, Ga. (U) — A slim, young officer was under house arrest at Camp Gordon today awaiting outcome of a pretrial investigation into charges he ordered recruits to hang a fellow trainee by the feet from a tree limb.

Third Army headquarters also charged in a statement that 2nd Lt. Charles C. Anderson, 24, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., forced recruits to take sand baths, do exhausting physical exercises and shout an obscene phrase from a tree top.

The 5-foot-10 officer, described as soft-spoken and "on the handsome side," served as a master sergeant in the Far East and won two battle stars in Korea.

He was on his first assignment as an officer in command of Company A, 1st Infantry Training Regiment, when the Army charges, he forced recruits to undergo "harrowing and humiliating" treatment.

Anderson declined comment.

Third Army headquarters said that after the pretrial investigation was completed the commanding general at Camp Gordon would determine the appropriate action to be taken, "to include trial by court-martial if warranted."

Details of the case were released Saturday by Lt. Gen. A. R. Bolling, commanding general of the 3rd Army who stressed that no injuries were suffered.

'Ridiculous,' Says Hagerty of Adlai's Assertion

WASHINGTON (U) — The White House today labeled "ridiculous" Adlai Stevenson's assertion that President Eisenhower has affirmed Republican campaign material which Stevenson said was "standard Communist propaganda."

With the congressional campaign in its final hours, James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, was asked for comment on the remark Stevenson made in a New York speech Saturday night.

"I have no other comment except to say it's just ridiculous," Hagerty replied.

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, told a party rally in his New York speech: "Not just the vice president and the Republican campaign, but now the President himself has affirmed the proposition that our prosperity has been achieved in the past only at the price of war and bloodshed."

"This of course has been standard Communist propaganda for years and is believed by many to prove that the United States is ready to precipitate war in order to save capitalism."

Stevenson added he was sure that Eisenhower "must have spoken thoughtlessly and carelessly."

Vice President Nixon has denounced what he termed Stevenson's smear attack on Eisenhower, and plans to reply to the former Illinois governor in a nationwide address tonight.

Nixon will speak for 20 minutes from Denver, starting at 8 p.m. (CST) and Eisenhower will speak during the final 10 minutes of the election eve "get out the vote" telecast and broadcast.

Hagerty announced that Eisenhower will speak here from a TV radio studio rather than the White House because of the political nature of the address.

Hagerty noted that the windup campaign addresses by Eisenhower and Nixon are being sponsored by the Republican National Committee, and said the committee is paying for the air time.

Under such circumstances, Hagerty added, the President feels that he should not speak from the White House.

Warriors Bump Redmen, 32-6, for Series Lead

Grebin Scores on 70, 72-Yard Runs

By RALPH REEVE
Daily News Sports Editor

The Winona State Warriors used everything but the broomstick as an offensive weapon Saturday night at Maxwell Field and the display resulted in a 1954 Halloween victory over the St. Mary's Redmen. The Staters had plenty of tricks, and a few treats too, as they churned to a 32-6 victory over the Redmen in the 14th renewal of the colorful city college grid series.

HEMMED IN... Minnesota's Dick McNamara has gone about as far as he can go on this end sweep in the fourth quarter of the Michigan State game Saturday at Memorial Stadium, Minneapolis. Gerald Planutis (45) is shown making the tackle, while two teammates—Fred Rody (66) and Henry Bullough (67)—come up for assistance. On the right is Chuck Stamschroer (50), Minnesota center. McNamara Sparks Gophers to Best Football Record Since '49 Season

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's Bob McNamara today shouldered into the ranks of the nation's backfield aces and carried the rebounding Gophers toward their most successful season since 1949. McNamara's 60-minute shuttle service at right half and fullback against Michigan State Saturday brought the Hastings farm boy to the zenith of his four-year career at Minnesota.

On form, only an upset can save battered Oregon State in its meeting with the Gophers here Saturday.

For the record, Minnesota still is in contention for the Big Ten championship. Yet the chance is largely theoretical. A Minnesota championship would involve two straight defeats by Ohio State, another loss for Michigan and probably another for Purdue. The odds, conservatively, are 50-1.

By any yardstick, and assuming a Gopher victory over Oregon State, the Minnesota season could be called successful beyond any pre-season estimate. Most of the guessers gave Minnesota no more than four victories before Murray Warmath started unloading surprises with his split T.

His biggest surprise has been McNamara, the cool-eyed senior with more raw drive than any Minnesota halfback since the championship days.

For a full week before the Spartan game, Warmath secretly drilled McNamara for a fullback role to take up the slack left by injuries to John Baumgartner and Ken Yackel.

The result of McNamara's dual assignment was left to Warmath for judgment: "It was his greatest day. What more can anyone be asked to do on a football field."

Baumgartner returned during the second quarter against Michigan State and ran superbly while he was able.

As for the future, Warmath says he'll keep McNamara acquainted with the fullback plays for insurance. When the switch is on, as it will undoubtedly be for at least parts of the next three games, Shorty Cochran moves up as first string right half.

This was McNamara's chronology against State:

He scored the first Minnesota touchdown from the two-yard line after his line smashes, those of Baumgartner, and Geno Capelletti's passes drove from the Gopher 18.

His run cleared the way for Capelletti's one-yard sneak for the second touchdown.

He provided the final turning point by catching a Pat Wilson fumble before it touched the ground and speeding 40 yards down the sidelines for the final score.

Michigan State showed early strength that threatened to make the day even bleaker for the 63,575 homecoming fans than the 32-degree weather was doing.

Johnny Matscock scored from the Minnesota 24 early in the first quarter and Michigan State dominated until Warmath rushed in Capelletti and a couple of other regulars who had been demoted during the week.

State scored its second touchdown late in the game on LeRoy Bolden's 4-yard smash.

For Warmath, the most pleasing feature was the recovery of the Gopher line, at every position. Dean Maas, Bob Hobert, Jim Soltan, Ron Smith, Mike Falls and Chuck Kubus led the way.

As they had in other games, the Gophers showed a tendency to make mechanical mistakes at the most embarrassing times. They fumbled and the quarterbacks mis-handled the pitchout play occasionally, but Minnesota had the spark when it needed it.

Ohio State Eyes National Rating

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State detours Big Ten activity this week but don't expect any letup on the part of the high-flying Buckeyes in their game against Pitt Saturday.

Ohio State is not only shooting for the Western Conference title and the Rose Bowl trip but also has a keen eye for the mythical national championship.

western, 14-7, the Buckeyes are but a stitch away from sewing up the Big Ten title.

Following the Pitt encounter Ohio State takes on Purdue and Michigan before closing out the season. Both the Boilermakers and the Wolverines are still in the running for the title but by the time they come up against Ohio State they might turn out to be also rans.

Purdue, 28-14 victor over Illinois, is at Iowa in what should be one of the top games in the Midwest. The Hawkeyes bounced Wisconsin out of contention, 13-7.

Michigan takes on Illinois at Ann Arbor after a 13-9 defeat by Indiana. Except for a couple of fumbles which the Boilermakers turned into touchdowns, Illinois played well considering that star halfback J. C. Caroline sat out the game with an injured shoulder.

The only other conference game this week matches Northwestern against Wisconsin at Madison. The once mighty Badgers have suffered two successive defeats while Northwestern has lost five in a row.

Minnesota, still clinging to its slim hopes, is host to Oregon State. Paced by Bob McNamara's two touchdowns, the Gophers bounced back from their 34-0 loss to Michigan to trim Michigan State, 19-13.

Oregon State fell before Southern Cal, 34-0, and has beaten only Idaho and Colorado College in six games.

Washington State is at Michigan State. The Cougars, upset by Idaho, 10-0, a week ago, came back Saturday to bounce Stanford, 20-26. Washington State has a 2-4 record.

Indiana, still celebrating its upset victory over Michigan, is host to undefeated Miami of Ohio. Miami has scored 255 points against six foes. However, the Redskins might find they're playing out of their class.

Lakers Defeat Syracuse, 97-94

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It still takes more than one guy scoring points to win in the National Basketball Association. The Baltimore Bullets can add a hearty "amen, brother" to that observation.

The Bullets have All-America Frank Selvy, the lad who set every major college scoring record in 1953 while at Furman, firing for this season and he's scored 60 points in two games. Yet the Bullets are 0-2 at this point and tied with Boston's Celtics at the bottom of the eastern division.

After scoring 25 in losing against Syracuse, the defending eastern champs Saturday, Selvy pumped in 35 points Sunday night against Philadelphia. But the Warriors, with Neil Johnston scoring 26, Danny Finn 23 and Joe Grabowski 22, won their season debut 102-87.

The Warriors also had Paul Arizin back from two years in the Marines. Arizin, who topped NBA scoring in 1951-52, scored 16.

In other games Sunday night, Syracuse lost its home opener 97-94 to the NBA champion Minneapolis Lakers and Fort Wayne won its second straight, 90-88, at Boston's expense despite 20-point performances by Celtics' Ed Macauley and Bob Cousy.

Minneapolis, led by Clyde Lovellette, 22 points, had a 44-24 lead at the half and then matched the Nationals point-for-point the rest of the way. Syracuse, paced by Paul Seymour, who scored 25 points, missed a total of 21 free throws including 13 of 23 attempts resulting from 14 Laker fouls in the final period.

Will Harridge May Quit League Post

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It would not be too surprising to see Will Harridge, scholarly president of the American League, toss in the sponge and tell his employers of the past 23 years to find themselves another moderator for their next debate over the future of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Harridge's present contract still has three years to run, but there must have been days lately when he wondered if he would be able to stick it out. At the end of the most recent protracted wrangle here the 69-year-old league head sounded suspiciously as though he had about contracted a stomach-ache. If he comes back for another round it will be only through a stern sense of duty.

We have seen it written lately that Harridge has grown too soft to handle the bunch of hard cases who are battling among themselves over what should be done with the sick Athletics.

It is true that he always liked to run a "tidy" league and deplored such ruckuses as he was called upon to contend with, but he also has demonstrated upon numerous occasions that he could get real tough when the necessity arose. One of the first things he did after taking office was to fine Bill Dickey of the Yankees $1,000 and suspend him for a month for laying a hay-maker on the jaw of Carl Reynolds of the Washington Senators.

Many times since then the man they now are saying is too soft has taken the law into his hands in a hurry when he felt it was indicated. We have never seen it suggested that discipline in the American League was more lax than that in the National. But when it comes to telling off club presidents and forcing him to act their respective ages, the league president simply doesn't have the authority. They pay him — not the other way around.

Reports that have seeped from last week's meeting here make it clear that the American League is hopelessly split over what to do with the Athletics, if anything. It now is being seriously predicted that they will open the 1955 season right where they were last year, in Connie Mack Stadium, and still under ownership of the Mack family, which doesn't have the money to finance them.

'No Thrill Left,' Elroy Hirsch Quits Football

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elroy Hirsch says his decision to quit football will open the way for a full-time career before movie and television cameras.

The star pass catcher for the Los Angeles Rams announced last week that he was quitting pro football "because the thrill has gone out of the game." But there are other reasons too — personal reasons, and his urge for a chance at a show business career.

When he explained that he was hanging up his uniform at the end of this season he told how he felt about football:

"Pro ball has changed in the last season or two. There used to be fun in the game. You looked forward to each game with a considerable thrill. You had friends on the other teams in the league—even though the friendship ended temporarily the minute the game started. You didn't see the other team using rough stuff to 'get' certain star players.

"That's changed now. There is a tremendous pressure to win—or else. It used to be that you played like the dickens only in the 12

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Not on your troussau! American women are the most married and most emancipated women in the world. As one psychologist says, most women prefer motherhood above every other profession or occupation in the world. Our booklet, "How To Pick a Mate," would save many from unhappy marriages. Non-profit, 15c (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Not enough to bother about. What you and your vocational counselor want to know is what aptitudes, drives, and abilities you have now. These are found by scientific tests and interviews. Then you can kick your ancestors overboard and chop down your family tree. It does pay to know the serious diseases and defects they had.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Many studies, with two exceptions (one excellent, one doubtful), show children resemble, in mental, physical, and personality traits, their true parents more than their foster parents. This seems to indicate heredity is stronger than environment, but does not absolutely prove it. However, improving environment raises the achievements, education, character, and happiness of all men.

Shirley Ekern Queen At Gale-Etrick High

GALESVILLE, Wis. (Special)—Shirley Ekern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ekern, was crowned queen of Gale-Etrick's 1934 homecoming festivities Friday. King of the celebration was Glenn Erickson, president of the high school lettermen's club.

Attendants to the queen included Cleone Johnson, Beverly Baardeth, Grace Ames, Peggy Wall, Susan Cory and Margaret Cram. In the king's court were John Dopp, Gordon Hoff, William Kind-sch, David Lund, Jerry Mohall and Gary Redsten.

Seven floats, representing the four high school classes, the FFA and the FHA, were entered in the school's annual homecoming parade, headed by a 50-piece band. Also parading were 150 grade school children in Halloween costume.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

In a recent column I wrote on installment buying I must have created the impression that I am against all buying on the buy-now-pay-later plan.

I received a number of letters and several con. Here is part of one I got from Mrs. Mary A. Hinkle of Dayton, Ohio:

"People with a moderate income and raising a family would have to wait a long time to enjoy and for their children to enjoy such things as television, a new car, etc. After all, when children are babies is the most confining time of all to a mother and if it were not for television and the family car for an occasional outing, and the automatic washer for all those diapers, many a mother would go berserk."

"If it weren't for the pay-as-you-go plans, I am afraid a lot of hard working, honest citizens would have to wait a long, long time and maybe never have the pleasure of enjoying what the wealthy take so much for granted."

I am afraid Mrs. Hinkle did not read my column through to the end.

I said distinctly, "Why not pause and wonder whether you have reached your buying limit?"

That is the whole secret of installment buying and that, as the credit manager of one of these time-payment concerns told me, is the curse of the business.

People simply don't know when they have reached their limit. They are always "nothing down and a dollar a week" or some other such thing which makes buying apparently so easy.

But a television set here, a washing machine there, a new car on top of that, and what have you? More debts than you will be able to pay, more worries than you will be able to bear.

There was another paragraph in Mrs. Hinkle's letter: "Grandmother did without, but not in this day and age."

Five Generations Reunited in Chicago

CHICAGO (U)—Alfred Williamson, 82, a Shelby, Ind., blacksmith, cradled his great-granddaughter in his arms for the first time at a family reunion here yesterday.

Representing the five generations were Williamson; his daughter, Mrs. William (Blanche) Collins, 59; the Collins' daughter, Mrs. Bernice Galardy, 35; Mrs. Galardy's daughter, Mrs. Patsy Jean Druggan, 21, and 3-month-old Lynelle Druggan.
